

MARSHALL IS ASSIGNED TO TROUBLE SPOT

President Names Lavishly-Praised Military Leader To Be Ambassador To China

IS A SPECIAL ENVOY

Washington, Nov. 28.—(P)—President Truman today called on his most lavishly praised military leader, General of the Army George C. Marshall to step into the world's No. 1 postwar trouble spot—China.

Amid signs of increasing American concern over the civil war in that country, Mr. Truman quickly followed Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley's spectacular resignation as ambassador yesterday by calling Marshall from his week-old retirement.

The former army chief of staff will become special envoy to China as a temporary replacement to Hurley, who caught both the president and Secretary of State Byrnes by surprise with his 1500-word statement that he was quitting.

By selecting a five-star general rather than choosing a civilian diplomat, Mr. Truman appeared to be emphasizing again the viewpoint that the present top job in China remains the disarming of Japanese troops.

Both the war and state departments have said repeatedly in recent weeks that United States troops are in northern China only to facilitate the surrender of Japanese forces, not as instruments of American foreign policy.

However, American policy toward China had been under critical review before Hurley's resignation because of the danger U. S. troops might become actively involved in the fight between Chinese government and Chinese Communist armies.

Hurley, meanwhile, scheduled an on-the-record luncheon talk before members of the National Press Club. He had warned in his statement yesterday that a third World War is "in the making."

Hurley's sentiment was widely shared in Capitol Hill. It also was expressed by Chinese Ambassador Wei Tao-Ming, who said in a statement that China was very fortunate in getting Marshall as a special envoy.

Washington, Nov. 28.—(P)—A public court martial will try Capt. Charles B. McVay 3d beginning Monday on undisclosed charges concerning the loss of his ship, the heavy cruiser Indianapolis, and 880 men on July 30.

McVay, 47-year-old native of Ephrata, Pa., now lives in Washington. He had commanded the Indianapolis since Nov. 18, 1944.

The court will convene at the navy yard here. Details of the charges will be withheld until they are read to McVay, a navy department announcement late yesterday said.

The Indianapolis sailed from San Francisco July 16 with a cargo of atomic bomb material for Guam. She made delivery and was returning to United States when she went down. A navy communiqué attributed the loss to "enemy action." A later recapitulation of naval losses disclosed that a submarine sank the ship off Leyte in the Philippines.

Casualties among the 1,196 on board were 100 percent—875 missing, five known dead, 316 wounded.

Government May Take Hand In Settling G.M. Wage Dispute

The government takes a hand in settling the General Motors wage dispute at a meeting with CIO Auto Workers officials in Washington today, but company representatives won't be there.

Vice President Walter P. Reuther and other top UAW-CIO officials were scheduled to confer with Edgar L. Warren, chief labor department conciliator, but GM President Charles E. Wilson said he couldn't leave Detroit "on account of the strike situation."

Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach yesterday reported Wilson would meet with Warren. The GM president said there was some misinterpretation of Wilson's statement. He had no definite arrangements to talk with Wilson or other company officials.

Last night 400 CIO pickets who for more than 15 hours had "imprisoned" 65 supervisory employees at a GM plant in Saginaw, Mich., disbanded after an appeal by the union's regional director. A strike over paying the strikers their last week's wages caused the incident, the first in the week-old strike which has idled 225,000 employees of the big automobile manufacturer.

Across the nation some 150 labor disputes idled around half a million workers.

Montgomery Ward and Company's reply was awaited to a union proposal that someone agreeable to both sides be appointed to arbitrate issues involved in a work stoppage now affecting Ward units in 10 cities.

An estimated 650,000 CIO United Steel Workers decided today in a poll conducted by the National Labor Relations Board if they desired to strike in support of their demand for a $2 weekly wage increase.

The navy still is operating most of the 53 refineries and pipelines seized Oct. 4, on President Truman's order after a futile attempt by Schwelienbach to settle the controversy.

The NLRB was preparing to conduct a strike vote Nov. 30 among AFL employees of seven Greyhound bus lines but Schwelienbach decided yesterday the War Labor Disputes Act does not cover the drivers, 4,000 of whom already are on strike.

Soup for Strike Pickets

Pickets at the strike-bound Chevrolet forge plant of General Motors in Detroit get soup, above, during periods of service in their picket line. The emergency soup kitchen is located in UAW-CIO local's hall near the plant.

Tribunal Names Top Nazis Who Planned Austrian Coup

Nuernberg, Nov. 28.—(P)—Franz von Papen and Arthur Seyss-Inquart—two of the top Nazi leaders on trial before an international military tribunal—were described by American prosecutors today as leaders of the fifth column which paved the way for Hitler's invasion of Austria in 1938.

While the Nazi plot to seize Austria was unveiled, the four-power court announced medical examiners had found that Rudolf Hess, Hitler's former No. 2 deputy, was "not insane" at present. Arguments on Hess' plea to be released from trial on grounds of amnesia were set for Friday.

American prosecutors met their first setback of the trial when the court ruled against their move to introduce an affidavit from Kurt Schuschnigg, deposed as chancellor and jailed for seven years by Hitler, in which he told of Nazi plotting against Austria. The tribunal upheld a defense contention that Schuschnigg should testify personally instead of by affidavit.

In a mass of government documents, letters and affidavits, the prosecution showed that von Papen, known as Germany's wildest diplomat, was sent by Hitler to Austria to help Hitler to power.

Police Chief Raps State Parole Plan

Erie, Nov. 28.—(P)—Announcing that the arrest of a 14-year-old boy and a man aged 25 cleared up a three months' series of bedroom burglaries here, Police George J. Christoph today criticized Pennsylvania penal institutions for releasing such inmates without correcting their habits.

Christoph said the boy, Leonard Szewczyk, and his uncle, Stanley Szewczyk, accused of 54 house breaks, had been confined in correctional institutions.

"The state penal institutions are stepping stones to the electric chair," said the chief.

"All criminals should be given examination by capable psychiatrists before they are turned out of prisons and reform schools.

"Just because the law says they should serve a specific term is no reason why any criminal should be released because his time is up."

Christoph said the Szewczyk boy had served at the Harbor Creek Home for Boys and George Junior Republic. The uncle, he said, had put in time at the Harbor Creek Home, Morgantown, White Hill and Western Penitentiary.

Judge To Rule On Shawmut Receivership

Pittsburgh, Nov. 28.—(P)—Federal Judge Guy K. Bard of Philadelphia will rule late today on a petition to remove Attorney John D. Dickson of Wellsville, N. Y., from his 23-year post as receiver of the Pittsburgh Shawmut & Northern Railroad, and its affiliates.

The court yesterday heard testimony from Dickson and others, including Dr. Elizabeth Hayes, former physician for the subsidiary Shawmut Mining Co., who quit her job last July because of what she called "intolerable" sanitary conditions in the mining town of Forde.

Permission was granted a group of persons holding $527,000 worth of Shawmut receivers' certificates to join in the petition for Dickson's removal.

The court also received a petition from a United Mine Workers local representing 450 Shawmut miners on strike since Dr. Hayes quit last July, asking that if the men return to work, their medical fees be paid to the union which will hire its own doctor.

Asked about a receiver's report filed in September, showing the company $30,000,000 in debt, Dickson said:

"Our cash position is very bad. We can't even pay a lot of our bills because of the stoppage, we lost heavily."

P. J. McBride, assistant receiver, testified the Shawmut Mining Co. showed a loss for many years. He said in the four and a half months of the strike, the loss had been greater than ever. He didn't know if it would be possible to operate the company's coal mines at a profit under any conditions. He testified the Shawmut rail lines showed a profit only when the mines were operating.

DAIRY FARM BURNS

Erie, Nov. 28.—(P)—Rushing out of her burning home, Mrs. Herbert Werren stove in the glass of a door yesterday. She was treated at St. Vincent's hospital for a wrist laceration. Her dairy farm home, four miles south of the city, was damaged to the extent of about $1,000 by the fire.

BALLOTTING UNDER WAY IN STEEL PLANTS

Most of the Nation's Iron Workers Voting On Whether or Not They Favor a Strike

600,000 ARE INVOLVED

Pittsburgh, Nov. 28.—(P)—Heavy voting by steel workers was reported from the nation's large production centers today on the question of whether a steel strike is favored to support demands of the CIO-United Steel workers for a $2 a day wage increase.

The first return reported was from Chicago, where workers at the Republic Steel Corporation's Grand Crossing voted 47 to 5 in sympathy with a strike. Fifty-two out of 70 eligible voters balloted there. In Utah, the union said 50 of the first 52 votes cast favored a strike.

Results from five northern Ohio plants showed the workers favored a strike by approximately a 3 to 1 margin, said Walter E. Taag, regional director of the NLRB. The vote in these plants was 368 for a strike, and 112 against.

Reports from the teaming mills centers in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and other areas were that the polling of the steel workers by the National Labor Relations Board was going on smoothly.

It was the greatest strike poll ever taken, involving tens of thousands of steel workers across the country.

The CIO-United Steel Workers headquarters here estimated between 600,000 and 700,000 workers were voting, a spokesman explaining a definite figure was impossible because of fluctuating employment conditions in recent months.

The voting in this large steel center got under way early. Night shifts from the blast furnaces and open hearts cast their votes as they completed their turns. Day workers voted as they reported for duty.

The balloting was orderly. It was also heavy at the big Homestead works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. Representatives of the National Labor Relations Board were at all polls to supervise.

The question on the ballot was: "Do you wish to permit an interruption of war production in war time as a result of this dispute?"

An NLRB official explained the wording was as required by the War Labor Disputes act and there was no authority to change it.

Regardless of the outcome of the balloting the union emphasized that a strike will not necessarily result. Workers were told a walk-out is subject to the future decision of the union's international wage policy committee, the executive board and the international officers.

Field directors in the 27 states where balloting is taking place in 766 plants have been warned by international officers to guard against unauthorized walkouts.

Affected are the mills of "Big Steel" and "Little Steel," scores of small independent factories, and large producers of aluminum, iron ore and other related products.

The vote was called to enforce the union's demands for a $2 a day wage increase. It follows the rejection of a $1.50 increase.

High Court Weighs Warren County Case

Philadelphia, Nov. 28.—(P)—The Pennsylvania supreme court was asked today to decide whether a judgment lien in favor of the commonwealth arising from payment of public assistance to a property owner is discharged through a subsequent county treasurer's tax sale.

The case originated in Warren county, where common pleas court decided against the commonwealth, which sought to recover $855 advanced John Uzdenier for old age assistance between 1925 and 1939.

Property owned by the recipient was sold in 1942 at a county treasurer's sale and the buyers seek to have the state lien on it removed.

Strike of Students Disrupts Classes

Pittsburgh, Nov. 28.—(P)—A strike by students disrupted classes in South Hills and Langley High schools today as an outgrowth of a dispute over whether 53 teachers should receive extra pay for after school athletic coaching at public schools.

At South Hills High all boys—some of them football and basketball players—walked out and at Langley both boys and girls walked out.

There were indications the strike might spread to other schools.

At Prospect school some students were carrying signs reading: "No sports; no school."

School Superintendent Earl A. Dimmock said he had referred the coaches pay dispute to the proper committee of the board of education. Attorney Bresci R. P. Leonard, acting for the coaches, notified Dimmock yesterday of the coaches' decision to refuse further coaching assignments until their pay demands were met.

Insurgents Are Marching On Teheran

TEHRAN, Nov. 28.—(P)—Iranian government forces were under orders today to defend the capital at all costs against an insurgent military force officially reported marching toward the city from the north.

The government announced officially last night that forces of insurgents in Azerbaijan province were marching southward along the main rail line toward the capital.

Observers here believed it was questionable whether the Azerbaijan forces would continue to march on Teheran itself, in view of the presence of armed Iranian troops and tanks at Sharifabad, four miles east of Kazvin. But the government announced that one insurgent column had occupied the small rail town of Takistan, nine miles southwest of Kazvin and 85 miles northwest of Teheran.

The government said the vanguard of this force was driving on Kazvin and was expected to reach it by nightfall.

Confirmation was given by the government to earlier reports that another insurgent column had occupied all of Zenjan, a rail station 170 miles northwest of the capital. Zenjan is the capital of Khamseh province, where the government has reported insurgents operating with weapons distributed by "unknown people."

The government said Astara, Caspian sea port 230 miles northwest of Teheran on the Iranian-Soviet border, also was occupied by the insurgents.

The Azerbaijan have announced a demand for autonomy within the Iranian state.

Some Codes Used by U. S. Embassy In Tokyo Destroyed Before the War Broke Out December 7th, Grew Says

Expansion of Warren industry promises a Merry Christmas for the town in years to come. In all, millions are being spent in new construction and in plant expansion in the immediate vicinity.

Just west of Warren on the 100-acre site acquired from the Warren Borough School District, the Pennsylvania Electric Company has started actual work on the erection of its new $4,000,000 steam generating power plant, which will provide additional power for the Warren and Bradford district.

To the south of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks today there is a scene of much activity. During the past few weeks the site has been cleared of all brush and trees and engineers have been busy staking out the sites of various features of the construction.

A new road has also been laid out from the highway to the plant site and bulldozers arrived yesterday for the grading of this roadway. It will afford easy ingress to the property during the weeks to come.

Contractors have also staked out the switch which will be run from the Pennsylvania railroad into the new plant. The switch will leave the Pennsylvania railroad just east of the roadway leading down to the site and will swing to the west and south. The switch to be first constructed will be 1200 feet in length and its building will require a large amount of grading and some fills of considerable size. It will carry coal from the railroad to the plant and the coal storage building of the new plant will be so equipped an entire carload of coal can be dumped and the car returned to the switch in a few minutes. When completed the switch will be extended to make a return of the empty cars to the railroad.

Stakes have also been set for the larger buildings of the plant. The main structure will be approximately 150 x 200 feet and towering stacks will rise from the building. The heavy machinery, turbines, generators, etc., have been ordered and by the time the buildings are in readiness the machinery will be ready for installation. It can all be handled into the new plant by way of the switches on the company property. There will be several buildings in the plant.

Temporary buildings for the use of the company engineers and the contractors will be erected along the new road to be graded into the site. These have all been staked out and work on erecting them will be started soon.

Core tests are being taken at the present time to provide data for the specifications of the foundation installations. Three drills are in operation and the work is fast nearing completion.

The construction of the steam generating plant and the various features in and about it is a big job. With preliminary work done this winter construction work can be speeded up with the coming of spring. A new roadway along the river frontage of the property will be constructed and this will be done in accordance with specifications of the highway department assuring a firm road westward from the plant site. One feature of the plant will be a pump house with heavy pumps to take a water supply from the river. Large intake pipes and outlets will be installed and the fact that such a plentiful supply of water was at hand aided much in the selection of the site.

Philip and Milton Zaisneck, of Corry, yesterday began moving equipment to the site. The Corry firm has received a contract for preliminary grading, drainage and excavating at the site.

The equipment to be used includes power shovels, bulldozer and other heavy equipment. Their (Turn to Page Nine)

Diet Heckles Jap Premier During Speech

Tokyo, Nov. 28.—(P)—Prince Fumimaro Konoye, former premier, was named from the floor of the Japanese house of representatives today as one of two men "fundamentally responsible for the war."

The boisterous house also heckled melancholy Premier Eon Kijuro Shidehara after his "state of the nation" speech to the diet.

Takao Saito, 75-year-old parliamentarian, asserted from the floor that Honoye and Pearl Harbor Premier Hideki Tojo were responsible for the war, adding that "the Japanese people hate these men more than anyone else."

(Tojo is awaiting trial as a war-crimes suspect; Konoye, free, has been eyeing wistfully a fresh plunge into politics as a commoner and liberal.)

MOTORIST ARRESTED AFTER FATAL CRASH

Clarion, Nov. 28.—(P)—Justice of the Peace James Arner said Clifford Burrell, of St. Petersburg, pleaded innocent yesterday to a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the automobile death of Leroy Clark, 13, of Emlenton, R. D. 3.

Burrell also denied failing to stop at the scene of an accident. The boy was killed when hit by a car while walking home from basketball practice at Salem school. Another boy, William Sherman, suffered a broken leg.

Raymond Kuhns, 21, of Youngstown, Westmoreland, was in a critical condition in Latrobe hospital.

After the collision, the truck plunged over a 15-foot embankment.

Blame Shifted By Yamashita To Superior

Manila, Nov. 28.—(P)—Bluff, bullet-headed Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita described himself today as a subordinate commander having somewhat of a bystander role in the defense of the Philippines and hence not accountable for the long list of Japanese atrocities detailed by the prosecution in his war crimes trial.

Testifying in his own defense before the U. S. military tribunal, Yamashita declared he always was under orders of Field Marshal Count Hisaichi Terauchi, supreme Japanese commander for the southwest Pacific, and never had control of the air force, marine transportation corps, naval men and 30,000 other Japanese troops in the Philippines.

Asked whether he ordered or knew of atrocities, Yamashita gestured with his large, muscular hands and replied through his interpreter, "no, absolutely not."

Further, Yamashita insisted, he had determined that Manila was indefensible and had ordered his troops out last December.

Yamashita contended it was Japanese navy troops that remained there, although he didn't know of it at the time, and that he himself never at any time even had his headquarters in the city.

While the general was testifying, the Philippine supreme court denied his counsel's contention that the military tribunal was illegal and that Philippine civil courts should take jurisdiction.

Given Life For Slaying Man During Holdup

Pittsburgh, Nov. 28.—(P)—Twenty-year-old Charles Anderson today faced a life sentence for the robbery-slaying of 71-year-old Charles N. Schnebach shortly after midnight last July 25 in an East Liberty school yard.

A verdict of first degree murder, with a recommendation of mercy, was returned last night by a jury which deliberated nearly six hours. Judge Malcolm McDonald pronounced sentence immediately.

The commonwealth had asked the death penalty, describing Anderson as a "remorseless slayer."

Schnebach was fatally slugged as he walked through the school grounds.

Earle Jackson, assistant district attorney, said Anderson "made one mistake—like many other criminals have done"—"he forgave his hat. And through that hat part of a 'zoot suit' ensemble, (Turn to Page Nine)

Fugitives Using Gun Force Couple to Give Up Auto

Bellefonte, Nov. 28.—(P)—Deputy Warden C. C. Rhoads reported today that two escaped prisoners from the Rockview prison farm forced a farmer and his wife at gun-point last night to give up their automobile and drove east in the car.

Rhoads said that Myrl W. Kerstetter and his wife, living about a mile from Bellefonte and seven miles from the prison farm, reported the two men came to their home between 8:30 and 9 o'clock last night.

He said the couple identified their visitors as the missing prisoners, Sheldon D. Miller, 25, Lycoming county, sentenced to 2-to-4 years for larceny and burglary, and Henry Van Buren, 23, Bradford county, sentenced to 2-to-10 years for robbery. They escaped from the prison farm yesterday.

Rhoads said the pair got a shotgun from the backdoor of the kitchen at the Kerstetter home and also gathered up some shells before they left.

Mrs. Kerstetter said the pair to a reporter:

"We (she and her husband) were listening to the radio in the front room and heard the back door open. Before we could get to the kitchen one of the men entered."

Mrs. Kerstetter said the pair demanded to know where the keys to their car were and Kerstetter told them they were back of the sun visor in it.

"They told us that they wouldn't harm us if we didn't call the patrol within half an hour. I was nervous and upset so Myrl went to a neighbor right after they left for help for me. Before they left they went around and pulled down all the blinds."

Two other members of the family were upstairs in bed at the time.

State police set up road blocks throughout the territory and sent out descriptions of the sedan automobile.

Delays on Debate For U.N.O. Scored

Washington, Nov. 28.—(P)—Senator Connally (D-Tex.) declared today he is "not going to stand for" delaying interruptions in the senate's debate on American participation in the United Nations Organization.

As the chamber prepared to take up a series of Republican-sponsored amendments to a bill that would place this country actively in the peace-preserving set-up, the chairman of the foreign relations committee told reporters he will fight them all off in a drive for a final vote.

Connally successfully fought off attempts yesterday to have the UNO measure laid aside in favor of other bills and listened intently as Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) delivered a four-hour criticism of the United Nations and current foreign policy.

Wheeler said that if UNO already were functioning to stop aggression "you would be compelled to go to war with Russia."

RADAR BEAR FOR PILOTS

Pittsburgh, Nov. 28.—(P)—Aviators arriving at the greater Pittsburgh Airport will be able to use a radar beam within the next few months, enabling them to fly in any sort of weather. Allegheny County Aviation Director John E. Sweeney said installation of "blind flying" equipment will start next week and should be completed in 60 to 90 days.

Council Will Hear Report on Conference

At the meeting of the Town Council to be held next Monday evening a report will be presented by Burgess Ray Steber and City Solicitor Sidney Blackman relative to the conference held at Harrisburg last week. The conference was in regard to the proposed construction of a new bridge at or near Warren by the Pennsylvania railroad. The railroad company was represented, the state highway department and other state departments were also represented. The local men learned much of the proposed change in Pennsylvania lines through Warren and the report to Council promises to be of much interest. It is also expected that additional information will be given Council by the Building Committee relative to the Central Fire Station. From all indications now the present station will be rebuilt and put into good shape for the use of the firemen. However no room exists at that station for a training ground and Fire Chief Charles Albaugh regrets this fact.

Service Work For Girl Scouts Topic of Talk

Community service as an integral part of the Girl Scout program was emphasized by Mrs. William Glassman in her talk to the Girl Scout Leaders' Association at the YMCA Tuesday evening. She spoke of her work as chairman of the Service Bureau, which finds and brings to Girl Scouts opportunities to use their skills to help other people. A display of more than two dozen different and intriguing tray favors which may be made by Girl Scouts and Brownie Scouts for patients in hospitals were exhibited by Mrs. Donald Taft. The program was in charge of Mrs. Robert Carlson. Mrs. Clifford Briggs was elected to represent the Leaders Association together with the president, Mrs. Arthur Chapman. Their terms will begin in January, 1946, and run for one year. The leaders voted to recommend to the program committee of the Council that all Brownie Scout leaders be asked to meet in the middle of January to plan a Brownie "Revel" to be held in February and that two Girl Scouts from each troop meet later to plan a party for all Girl Scouts to take place near the date of the Girl Scout birthday, March 12.

Leaking Oil Threatens Tank At Henrys Mill

Hunters in the woods at Henry's Mills on Monday shot a hole in an oil line leading to a tank on the John Hadden lease. Not noting what they had done the hunters moved on and the oil leaked from the tank. Mr. Hadden estimates that a loss of from 80 to 50 barrels took place. During Monday night in some manner the oil took fire and to save the property the Sheffield fire department was called and put out the blaze. It was then discovered that the oil line had been shot into.

An investigation is under way by the sheriff's office that may result in the apprehension of the careless hunters.

Tidioute Man's Car Was Damaged

Titusville, Nov. 28—Two men escaped injury when a 1941 Plymouth sedan owned and driven by Eugene Berlin of Tidioute, skidded on Main street near the Cities Service refinery Monday morning at 9:30 and crashed into the ditch and the embankment along the road. The right side of the car was badly damaged and the driving mechanism was put out of commission. Paul Berlin was the other passenger in the car.

The pavement was icy at the time, but the police investigating the accident were unable to learn how the machine got out of control. No other car was involved.

They Conducted Jap Ceremony

Titusville To Have Airport; Work Started

Titusville Herald—The site of Edward Voegel's airfield at the former Mahle farm on the Meadville road, about two and one-half miles west of Titusville, has been approved by the State Aeronautics Commission, according to word received here yesterday. The state inspectors looked over the site about a week ago and gave Mr. Voegel permission to start work. He told The Herald last night he began clearing the field at once in order to get as much done as possible before the coming of bad weather. The old orchard near the road has been removed and grading of the runways started. Mr. Voegel plans to lay out two runways at this time, the north and south and the east and west. He said if the weather remained good, most of the grading of the runways could be completed within two weeks. He has a bulldozer on the grounds and has used it to pull stumps and level off the holes where the trees stood. Construction of the buildings will depend also upon weather conditions. Mr. Voegel is anxious to get two hangers built as soon as possible.

Clayton Sanden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sanden, visited his family and friends in Warren over the holiday period, returning Sunday to New York, where he is studying voice with Madame Greta Stauber.

Hollywood Canteen Closes After Star-Studded History

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Nov. 28—(P)—The Hollywood canteen played its last show last night and a lot of high priced cheers marked the occasion.

Shortly after midnight, Kay Kyser and Bette Davis led the canteen's volunteer workers and entertainers and the audience of GI's in singing "Auld Lang Syne." There were few dry eyes as the last song was sung in the famed building that had entertained more than 3,000,000 service men and women.

Five thousand soldiers, sailors and marines streamed in and out of the canteen from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until closing. They ate turkey dinners and watched an array of talent which couldn't be seen under any other auspices.

Ingrid Bergman and Jack Benny did a scene from "Casablanca." Dinah Shore sang "Yes My Darling Daughter." Rudy Vallee sang the Maine Stein song. The tireless Bob Hope was there and John Garfield, Van Johnson, Eddie Bracken, Susan Hayward, Hedy Lamarr, Roddy McDowell and many others.

The big and the small people of Hollywood were there to close their canteen. It had been a community project and its success was due to the efforts of a tireless group of volunteers, some of whom never missed a night.

At one point in the evening Bette Davis, guiding light of the canteen, kicked off her shoes and mused about the place's history.

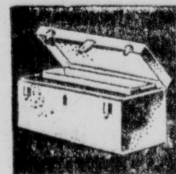

"What we have done, and what any other canteen in the country has done, is a mere nothing compared to what our service men have done for us," she said. And she wasn't acting.

Last night's program ended the three-year history of the canteen. It all began when Miss Davis visited the famed stage door canteen in New York in early 1942. She returned to Hollywood with the idea that the movie town should have something similar to entertain servicemen.

On Oct. 3, 1942, the Hollywood canteen opened its doors and gave soldiers and sailors and marines the most star-studded show they had ever seen. Every night until last night, the big and the little of Hollywood did their best to en-

A WORD TO HUNTERS

Warren has been invaded the past couple days by a small army of bear hunters, and still thousands of other nimrods are getting themselves all set to hurry into the state's woods for the deer season which will open on December first, as Secretary Seth Gordon of the State Game Commission sounds an ominous warning.

Warren county usually has its quota of hunting fatalities, and this year may be no exception, although it is sincerely hoped that it will. With the hunting season only half over there has been a total of over 25 fatalities in the state so far this year with hundreds injured. Last year for the entire twelve months there were only 23 persons who met death in this manner.

There are penalties for the careless handling of firearms; for mistaking a human being for game; for carrying loaded weapons in an automobile, and other violations. Fines paid, or damages collected, however, will not bring back a life of a fellow sportsman who died at your hands.

Resolve to use the utmost care during the hunting season so that you will not be a party to a serious accident or fatality.

THEY NEED MORE TIME

Santa Claus is under attack by a Goucher College professor who would liquidate the jolly old man. Prof. Ivan E. McDougale, who teaches sociology, profoundly declares that Santa should be retired. To quote the professor's exact words:

"The Santa Claus myth has lived too long in terms of child psychology. Parents should substitute democratic philosophy. Children would have to learn to get along."

Thus the professor outlines a job of the first magnitude for American parents. With the number of shopping days until Christmas daily becoming smaller—naturally—they are told to get a big supply of democratic philosophy on hand to take the place of Santa Claus.

Persuading the boys and girls to take a liberal offering of democratic philosophy in lieu of trains and tricycles and dolls and candy and nuts and the 10,000 other items that Santa always carries in his sleigh is too big a job to be done in so short a time.

Perhaps it would be well to send an urgent request to Professor McDougale to postpone the eradication of Santa Claus and the glorification of democratic philosophy amid the spangles and glamor of Christmas. The parents of America are entitled to have more time to do this job.

CHRISTMAS SALES BOOM

Despite delays in production incident to strikes and reconversion, national retail authorities predict that Christmas trade will soar to new record highs this year.

The forecast is based on the "end of the war psychology" and the return of millions from the armed forces, and is backed by peak cash or other liquid resources in the hands of the public. Shortages will limit volume sales in many lines, but merchants are noting that customers readily turn to alternative items if their first choice are unavailable. In the last three years Christmas buying was early in the fall because of the necessity for sending gifts to the men and women of the fighting forces in foreign lands.

This year the shopping is assuming a more normal pattern which, according to retail authorities, will mean a peak buying period from Dec. 6 to 15. The stores are prepared for the first peacetime Christmas since 1940, with the best stocks and assortments that manufacturers can deliver.

It seems that families everywhere are determined to have a "real Christmas" in 1945 after war years that meant curtailment of activity and limitation of exchanges.

Attention of every reader is called to a letter signed by "A Warren Taxpayer" which will be found in another column of this page. It is in regard to the proposed "Living Memorial" and contains much food for thought on the subject, regardless of the opinion the reader may have about the project.

Read Today: John 1:1-14.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

THE LIVING MEMORIAL

Warren Pennsylvania
November 21, 1945.

Editor, Warren Times-Mirror
Warren, Pennsylvania

Dear Sir:

Herein is offered a criticism of the proposal for a community athletic park; and an alternate proposal. Three inter-related questions are considered:

(1) Other community improvements required by law or badly needed.

(2) The relative merits and need of the specific proposal.

(3) The method of financing.

(1) Other Required or Needed Civic Improvements

Funds available for community projects are limited! A wise and prudent people, therefore, will make a careful choice between various possible projects based on their relative necessity or desirability.

State law requires the provision of a modern sewage disposal system and traffic lights located on standards at the curb. A new central fire station with space for personnel training is necessary. An addition to the courthouse is apparently needed now, and it will not be many years before a complete replacement of this old antique will be one of the community's "musts". The obsolescent Warren General Hospital is to be replaced by a new plant as soon as funds can be raised.

Adequate parking for the business district has long been a chronic problem which each year becomes more acute. Another is the mill race. This sluggish stream of dirty water is an eyesore, at times a nosedive, and a health menace in a number of different ways. For these reasons, if for no other, it should be acquired by the community and filled in. But this would at the same time answer the parking problem; for the area from Market street up would provide sufficient parking for many years to come, and in a central area within 2 1/2 blocks of every section of the business district! Aside from the hospital there is no project which would add as much in civic improvement, and health, and satisfaction to all the people as this! Twice in the past several years the Council has devoted much thought to undertaking this, only to drop it each time because of the cost!

Many of our streets are badly in need of major repairs. The salaries paid to many of the community's employees, especially our school teachers, are much too low. The average salary of our teachers is less than that of many semi-skilled laborers, yet it is these teachers whom we depend upon to give our children an adequate education. A decided raise in these salaries is both needed and desirable.

(2) The Merits and Demerits of An Athletic Park

Baseball, softball, football, tennis, swimming, and general playground use would seem to be the major purposes of an athletic park; and the need for more adequate provision for these must form the basis of any arguments in favor of such a project. Public demand for baseball and even football as spectators sports is very questionable. For several years the National Forge has had a good team, yet public interest has been anything but great. On no few occasions sports writers of the Times-Mirror have felt called upon to play the public for their lack of interest and support. The Red Jackets were really tops for a community of this size; yet public interest was insufficient to financially support this team. Over the past years a large number of good tennis courts in town have degenerated because of the lack of sustained demand for their use. There is no reason to expect any large scale revival of this sport in Warren in the future. Softball demands no elaborate grounds. Numerous diamonds about town have served quite adequately in the past, and can continue to do so in the future.

For baseball, there is Wilder Field, the State Hospital Diamond, and Russell Field. For football, Russell Field. The expenditure of a relatively small sum could make Russell Field very adequate for baseball, football, and softball. There is plenty of property lying close by that can be picked up cheap, and an adequate clubhouse erected thereon at reasonable cost. If somewhat more field room is needed part of the bank could be cut down to provide this. For baseball, a concrete stand could be erected on the bank, with dugouts beneath—again at reasonable cost. The erection of an adequate fence would take care of the problem of unpaid admissions, a problem incidentally which remains the same no matter where the field is located. The enlargement of the portable stands for football would be simple, if attendance indicated the need. Parking is probably less of a problem here than at any other location that could be selected within the borough. The only trouble with Russell Field today is that no one has seen fit to spend the reasonable sums necessary even for adequate upkeep, let alone improvements!

Swimming? How well utilized is the Y.M.C.A. pool? In fact, how well utilized are all the recreational facilities of this semi-charitable institution? It is my very definite impression that the years have seen a gradual dropping off in the use of these facilities. If it should be objected that the question of the cost to the individual makes it impossible for many who might like to do so to use these facilities, let us then make some simple provision to obviate this, rather than reduplicate the facilities at such great cost. But let us also remember that the most to the individual is quite small, and that many are not members not because they cannot afford it, but because they prefer to spend the small sum necessary in some other manner.

Playgrounds? There are several scattered about the community now which are either adequate or could be made so at relatively small cost. Besides, the dispersion of playgrounds has some advantage over centralization, and the asserted administrative difficulties are over emphasized—for a reason. Dispersion means relative closeness to those who regularly use them. It also permits of change and novelty for those who tire of one particular location.

No Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy recreation was "planned" and, as in any complete Socialist system, was provided at public expense. In this country the depression spawned large numbers of "social workers" devoted to socialist philosophy, whose major effort since the economic system got over its hangover has been a similar "planning" of recreation community expense. We have our share of these. For several years they had been agitating for a central playground and modest athletic park, with little success. The idea of a Living Memorial presented a golden opportunity which they quickly seized. Their own aims and plans were quietly fitted into this; the original program was elaborated and expanded; a series of behind the scenes maneuvers, with just the right balance of publicity and mystery, laid the psychological groundwork; and finally, with the enthusiastic aid of an ingenious group of younger sports fans, the plan was presented to the public in such a manner as to give it the appearance of a spontaneous, enthusiastic, and widespread demand. During the course of the "build-up" and the careful launching of trial balloons, the money required was progressively upped from some $125,000 to the present $400,000. A professional writer from one of the many socialist organizations engaged in this sort of work has been brought in to "advise" and "assist" in the planning. Since this type of individual works with someone else's money, there is very little limit to the grandiose-ness of their planning. As a matter of fact, the redistribution of wealth being a cardinal aim of their philosophy, the greater the amount they can tax or coax out of those who by enterprise and thrift have managed to save, the better pleased they are. It is to be regretted that the Times-Mirror and many others have been misled by a clever propaganda campaign.

(3) Method Of Financing

Community taxation falls chiefly upon property owners—only one class of the whole population. These are going to have to bear the major cost of the new sewage system and the change of the traffic lights, and contribute a large share of the funds for the new hospital. To add another $400,000 for an athletic park to their obligations, particularly in view of other civic improvements that might seem more desirable to many, in my estimation quite the opposite of wise. Besides, properties have deteriorated badly because of the necessity of deferring upkeep during the war years. Take a slow drive around town and look at the appearance of the homes and buildings. As a whole they are exceedingly shabby, and the community will certainly be better served if the owners are permitted to retain at least some small portion of their available funds to put into this badly needed renovating and repair of their property.

Let us by all means have a Living War Memorial, but let us be sensible in the having of it.

A Suggestion

The concept of a "Living" memorial expresses two aims: that the memorial should be useful; and that it should, in being used, more adequately keep alive the memory of those memorialized and the principles for which they gave their lives. An athletic park fails miserably to fulfill this second purpose. It is not when all is well and we are at play, either as contenders or spectators, that we dwell upon the memory of those who have passed on or the principles they upheld. The moment given to the National Anthem or other memorial symbol is in large part an automatic observance of convention. The mind's interest preoccupation with present events is not interrupted, only its form is changed from that of outward expression to an inward contemplation. It is during times of stress and anxiety, grave periods affecting us personally and intimately, involving perhaps either life or death for ourselves or those we love, that the mind is deflected from the business and pleasure of everyday life, and faced with the immensity of the ultimate mystery, wonders, ponders the meaning of life, and seeks the answer in those great values of the past and in the memory of those who have fought and died for these. Because this is so, the new hospital would seem a logical choice for a Living Memorial; but since the cost of the new building will represent only part of the total investment which includes many memorial requests made in the past, it would not be keeping faith to make the whole of the new structure a memorial to any one group. However, the projected construction is in concrete, and one of the will be an obelisk unit. Those born today are the citizens of tomorrow; and so for every today and every tomorrow. What more fitting and living memorial than this unit of the new hospital? A truly living Memorial to those who gave their lives that those born thereafter should enter life, not as slaves or as the children of slaves, but as part of a free and independent people in a free and independent nation. A monument where the mystery of death is transmuted into the reality of life. A memorial constantly renewed and reconstructed in the sober and thankful realization of every mother and every father whose child is born therein, that it was through the sacrifice of those memorialized that that life which they have created could be brought into a land in which freedom still reigned.

Yours very truly,

A WARREN TAXPAYER.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1925

Yeggs blew open the safe of the Metzger-Wright Company and stole between $5000 and $7000 in cash, checks, and securities. The robbers hid in the store most of the night before committing the robbery.

Workmen are engaged in moving the safe of the Warren National Bank into the new addition. The safe, a very late model, will be moved by a force of expert movers.

The directors of Warren's new furniture plant have voted to name the company the Paramount Furniture Company, with assets totaling $200,000.

Mrs. J. F. Johnston, Russell, has been named the Times-Mirror puzzle contest winner, and she will be awarded a prize of $500. Minnie Warren, Kinzua, was second and will receive $200.

The season's final football game, between the Hy-Vee Oils and Buffalo, will be a benefit encounter for the Alfas Santa Claus Fund of the Times-Mirror.

Boyd Sanden, of North Warren, has left for Scranton where he will attend the national convention of Alpha Gamma Sigma Fraternity. Sanden represents the two local chapters.

Dr. F. Glenn Templeton presented a paper on socialized medicine at the weekly Life Study Club meeting. Richard P. Lott acted as

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when it gets blocked it fails to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is not soda or an alkalizer—but something to "unblock" your intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet. Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits your food to move along normally. Nature's own digestive juices can then reach it. You get genuine relief that makes you feel really good again. Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore—25¢. SHARES COMMENDATION
Robert Youngquist, seaman first class, USNR, served aboard the USS Sierra, one of the famed "floating navy yards", which has received a commendation from the commander of destroyers of the Pacific Fleet for her crew's feat of performing 21,392 man-hours of work on 65 ships in a nine-day period. At another time, during a five-week period at Port Purvis in the Solomons, the crew of the Sierra helped the ship distinguish herself by substituting divers for drydock facilities to complete repairs on worn and damaged underwater equipment. During that period she also provided tender service for a fleet of LST's destined to carry troops and supplies to Iwo Jima. Although the Sierra is designated as a destroyer tender, she repaired all units of the fleet, from landing craft to battleships, during more than a year's service in combat waters.

Navy press releases indicate that John Joseph Kushner, sea-

those taking part in the occupation of Japan in initial landings of the Tokyo task force from the 1st serving aboard the LST-558. In his second voyage to the land of the Mikado, he reached the northern Japanese islands, landing at Otaru, Hokkaido, on the 27th of October. Seaman Kushner joined the navy in December, 1943, and has been on the LST-558 since May, 24. He is entitled to wear and she presents her act with a grace that wins her audiences. An entertainer with "what it takes"

she has no need of the Emcee urging the crowd to "give the little girl a hand" as the crowds appreciate and applaud her talent.
Charles Whitman, a clever fel-across in good shape. While a little Dwight Fiske in some of his

Gene Sheik completes the bill and he is a real floor show feature. He is a fellow with real balagape.

From all indications the bill

UNEQUALLED RECORD
Glenn Fitzgerald, signalman
second class, USNR, of Clarendon
RD 1, was among navy men who served on the motor gunboat USS PGM-30 and have been credited in navy records with an achievement believed unequalled by any other ship assigned to the same type of duty. In ten days, while assigned to duty with minesweepers as fire support and a mine destruction vessel, the crew of the gunboat destroyed 19 mines by gunfire while operating at Toka-shiki, a short distance west of Okinawa. Previously she had poured projectiles into the mouths of numerous enemy caves there with unerring accuracy, and army patrols later confirmed the devastating effect of the fire. The PGM-
30, commissioned in December,
1944, was on duty in the Pacific from March to the end of the war.

U. S. Employment Service Is Given Boost By Local Burgess

A plea for the cooperation of employers, workers and civic organizations in making the local office of the United States Employment Service the best possible job center for the community was made today by Warren's Burgess Stebler.

In a statement issued after a conference with Mr. Levine, manager of the local employment office, Burgess Stebler said:

"Orderly and prompt absorption of all available workers is vital to the future of this community. Full employment is our goal as much as it is the nation's, and one of the most important means of realizing this goal is to bring workers and jobs together with the least possible delay. Accordingly, it is important that all available jobs should be listed with the United States Employment Service office."

Manager Levine said that often a community-wide effort is necessary to make certain that returning veterans and war workers are placed in suitable jobs without delay. The cooperation of all employers is absolutely essential of the local office is to be the real center where workers can go with the assurance that it is the one place in the community where they can receive the latest and most accurate information about jobs. He added:

"Most retail stores, restaurants,
laundries and other service establishments have been short of help for many months. Now is the time for these places to register their needs with the employment office."

Stamp News

GENERALISSIMO Chiang Kai-Shek has been China's leading figure for many years, but until this year his only appearance on China's postage stamps was on a four-stamp set issued in 1929 to commemorate China's unification.

Two new sets just arrived from Chungking present new portraits of the Generalissimo in addition to the part profile that appeared on the set issued earlier this year to mark the end of extra-territoriality privilege in China.

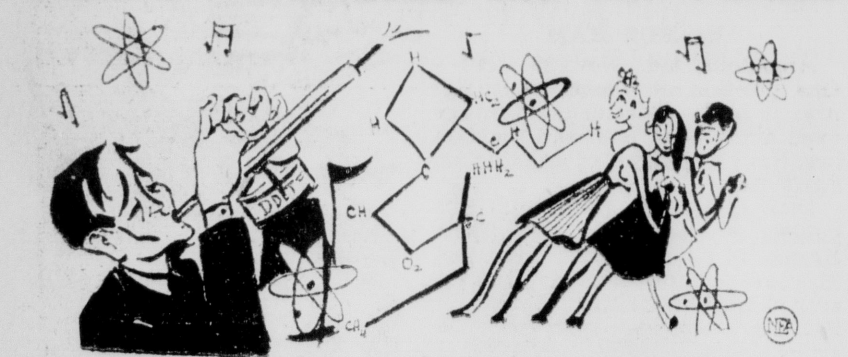

A head and shoulders full-face portrait of Chiang appears on four stamps issued Oct. 10 to celebrate victory over Japan. China's new white and blue flag flies at the right of Chiang's portrait and inscriptions in Chinese read "Celebrating Victory" and "Republic of China 34th Year." Values and colors are: $20 green; $50 brown and blue; $100 blue and $200 red and blue. The stamps were printed locally.

On the same day an engraved set commemorating the inauguration of Chiang as China's president Oct. 10, 1945, was issued. A half-length picture of Chiang in formal uniform dominates the design of these stamps.

China's flag again appears at the right in the background. Six values thus far have been released, but Scott Stamp & Coin Co. says there may be three additional values. Values and colors seen thus far are: $2 green; $4 blue; $5 brown olive; $3 olive brown; $10 gray, and $20 red violet.

Who Can Tell? Maybe "Three Little Fissions" Will Lead the Hit Parade

By BURTON BENJAMIN
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York — Our irrepressible song writers have latched on to the Atomic Age. They are accentuating the proton. They may even eliminate love and end the lush era of moon, June, tune, spittoon and goon. Soon, too.

Tim Fan Alley is clutched at the neck by a bomb. Four tenants of the low rent district on that famous thoroughfare held a house in a coffee and doughnut emporium the other night. No Congressman, scientist or general were permitted in the joint. Just the idea man, the silent one, the grunter and a lone female, the blonde.

They decided, for song purposes, that what the atom needs is a pinch of DDT.

"No five," offered the idea man. "This is solid. We give them the fanfare and then go into our hot line. Like this:

(To music) "Mix the ingredients of the atomic bomb with a little DDT." (Up and down scale on the inside.)

"Now what's next?"

The Silent One was silent.

"How about 'if you eat this, you'll go to pieces,'" blatted the blonde, taking a rare poetic license.

"Don't lose it. Don't lose it," fortissimed the Brain. "It's good. It's very good. But does it have class? We have something hot but it must have class."

The Grunter grunted.

Our intrusion apparently annoyed them. As we started to leave they were debating titles. It was a tossup between "Singing in the Uranium" and "Three Little Fissions."

stamp and bond totals had reached the sum of $11,978.84. Mrs. William Yeager and Mrs. Edward Weigel were elected representatives of the unit to the Community PTA Council.

Plans were made for Christmas, the unit to place a tree for the children on December 15 and to have a party on the last day of school. Mrs. Donald Taft to be in charge of arranging details. To conclude, Mrs. Paul Gary, the former Miss Olson, was presented with a gift from the group for her new home. The no tardiness banner was given two grades, Miss Henderson's and Mrs. Berg's and Mrs. Berg's room won the attendance award for the evening.

Talented Junior Class Cast Puts Its "Best Foot Forward" In Fine Matinee

The junior class put its "Best Foot Forward" at the opening matinee today in the high school auditorium to an enthusiastic audience of students and friends. Tickets are reported going fast for the final performance tomorrow evening, when curtain is at 8:15.

The three-act comedy, "Best Foot Forward" by John Cecil Holm, deals amusingly with a situation that develops when one of the undergraduates Bud Hooper, played authentically by David Brown, learns that a glamorous movie star in need of publicity, has accepted his invitation to the school's big dance. In the excitement of getting the boys' dorm fixed up for the out-of-town girls coming to the prom, four undergraduates, played by Bill Hill, Tom Hampson, Wilmer Latshaw and Carl Goosman, show themselves at ease on the stage and able to meet any emergency that might arise. Plenty do.

Neither the head-master of Winssocki, Dr. Richard Kerr, nor his able assistant, Prof. Lloyd Robert Souger, are much help to the for-bidding chaperone of the girls, the be-spectacled Miss Smith. She can't be, but she is—Ruth Kaebnick.

The sweet young girls, who have their sterner side, Minerva, Emma Hansen, Ethel, Betsy Conaway, Miss Delaware Watergap, Marie Lamer, are no match for the alluring and desperate Gale Joy of Hollywood. Beverly Washburn, the Blind Date, makes up for what he lacks in finesse by her forthright go-get-him tactics. Some of these are needed by Bud Hooper's pal, Therese Martin, who as the lovely Helen Schlössinger arrives late only to be told she is alive at the dance and "we can't have two Helen Schlössingers here."

It looks more and more as if

Miss Joy's smart publicity manager, Fred Printz as Jack Hagerty, is wasting time and money at Winssocki until the reporter for the local "Bugle", Chester Billings, played by Bob Gibb, full of news angles, ideas and adept with flash bulbs gets busy. Had it not been for an Old Grad, John Erickson to you, hurrying Dr. Reeber away from suspicious goings-on at the prom to address the alumni on how to have a better football team for Winssocki, much of the excitement of hiding in clothes presses and bunks, popping in and out of the fire-escape window would have been missed.

However, the darkest hours at the prom for Bud and Helen came just before the dawn when—and we won't tell how—Winssocki, now known from coast to coast is assured a high place in the future.

The large cast of 17 characters has been ably directed by Mrs. Phyllis W. Stanley, teacher of dramatics at Warren High. Each member of the cast shows a real insight into his character, from the bewildered Bud Hooper to the All-eyes chaperone. That much has been done with diction is known from the ease and distinction with which the actors speak. It is at once apparent that the choice of play, "Best Foot Forward" is one which appealed to the cast no less than the delighted audience of Wednesday afternoon.

Girl Scout Troop Investiture Is Held

A candlelight Girl Scout investiture service was held in the Russell Methodist church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, Mrs. A. N. Correll, Girl Scout executive secretary for the county, opening the service with a talk to the girls, their parents and friends on Scouting.

The investiture opened with the playing of the colors and troop girls forming a horseshoe on the platform to recite the Pledge of Allegiance and sing "America." The ten girls to be invested were presented by Betty Michael, Scout leader. Mrs. Phil Schick, who invested them as Girl Scouts, Miss Frances Rutland, assistant leader, added Mrs. Schick to the ceremony. The girls were Mary Abplanalp, Gladys Arthur, Marion Enos, Sarah Hunt, Grace Dickerson, Carol Moore, Evelyn Richardson, June Sadler, Janet Jones and Dorothy Vandorman.

After each new girl had made her Scout Promise, the troop sang "Wishers: You Make a Promise" and repeated the Girl Scout laws. Mrs. Schick then presented the girls with proficiency badges as follows: Second class, Diana Ottmiller, Dieder Peterson, Ann Rowland, Dorothy Russell and Jean Shepherd; first aid, Patty Michael; housekeeper, Ann Rowland, Kay Kaitenbach, Ina Carol Safford; hostess, Dieder Peterson, Ina Carol Safford; blind finger, Kay Kaitenbach; outdoor cookery, Ina Carol Safford; bookkeeping, bibliophile and reader, Diana Ottmiller.

Each girl in the troop received her troop numeral and several received membership stars, one for each year registered in the troop. The ceremonial closed with the singing of the Hymn of Scouting and recession of the colors and troop.

Blue Stocking Club Hears of Japanese

The Blue Stocking Club was entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Miss J. Mabel Siggins with Mrs. Edith Smith assisting and Mrs. Robert Winter conducting the business session and introducing the guest speaker, R. R. Young, of the high school faculty. His topic was "What the Japanese Believe About Their Origin and Destiny."

Prof. Young explained the Japanese teaching of emperor worship and the belief in the emperor's descent from the sun father and the earth mother; adding several fascinating myths of their first descendants, the beautiful Sun Goddess and her two brothers. He pointed out that the Japanese bible is based on the way of the gods and the way of the warrior, teaching that the government is also divine and of the same origin as the emperor, thus accounting for the fanaticism and homage to the emperor and the state. Mr. Young told this fascinating story of the Japanese in a modern and humorous manner, but brought out, also, the seriousness and challenge to other nations in dealing with the Japanese people.

A social hour and tea followed, Mrs. J. F. Plummer and Mrs. Ralph Sires presiding. The next meeting will be held December 11 with Mrs. Fred Plummer, Mrs. Brackett Ayres assisting and Mrs. Alexander Flick presenting the program.

Share-The-Food Day

We have finished a job, a long heart-breaking job, that of winning a war for freedom and the American way of life. And so, you say, we can lean back and take it easy. But we can't! Another job is waiting to be done—the task of giving support to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration's plan for helping war-ravaged countries to help themselves recover from the dislocation and destruction of years of conflict. A big part of the job is right at hand, for here in Warren the "Share-the-Food Day" is a golden opportunity for all to join in an act of friendship to neighbors who are starving. A cup of flour handed to your next door neighbor is a friendly gesture, tiding her over a domestic emergency. A cup of flour sent now to your neighbor across the sea may tide her over an emergency that means life or death—to her and her children.

"Share-the-Food Day" is for all Americans who are willing to eat, for at least one meal, the meager menus on which their contemporaries in war-scarred lands now live all year 'round—and to give the difference in cost of their adopted menu and a regular American meal to the fund which will support UNRRA's plan. Do you know that half the sugar used this year in soft drinks and other luxury products would give every resident of France about 26 pounds of sugar a year? Or that if every American gave up three ounces of meat a week, two-thirds of Europe's desperate need for meat could be met? The responsibility for UNRRA's success or failure is ours, the people's—UNRRA is dependent on what the nations willingly contribute. America—the last to suffer—can be the first to help!

Tom Brenaman Sends an Orchid For Local Party

Arrangements for the "Breakfast in Hollywood" party at the Woman's Club on Friday were given a realistic touch today when Mrs. Albert Rockwell, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, received an orchid for the party from Tom Brenaman in Hollywood.

With it, the genial host of the Hollywood Restaurant sent some other favors for the function, but the orchid adds the authentic touch needed to top off all the other plans the committee has worked out.

Bill Rice, of newspaper and stage renown, is revealed today as the Tom Brenaman of the local party, which, with announcement that special entertainment will be provided by a group of Little Theatre players from Jamestown, insures the success of the party.

In the Jamestown group will be Doris Phillips, Stanley Davis, Madelyn Osgood, Leslie Moyle and Estelle Judson.

Because of the limited number of tickets available for the affair, members and friends should make early reservations by calling the clubhouse, 410. It is stated by the committee that parties of more than four may be accommodated with reserved tables.

Bible Conference At Calvary Church

A youth Bible conference will begin tonight at 7:30 at the Calvary Baptist church and continue every evening through Sunday evening. The young people of the church are sponsoring these meetings, and will furnish most of the special singing, and other parts of each service, except the messages, which will be given by Rev. David Anderson of Kuhn, N. D.

Rev. Anderson is a very interesting man with an interesting background. He began preaching at the age of 17 to the mountain folk of South Carolina. Later he went into evangelistic work and became one of the leading evangelists in the Baptist General Conference.

Some years ago his health became poor, and he took a pastorate. But he still travels a great deal as a conference and Sunday school institute speaker. Wherever he goes he endears himself to young people, and is known to many as "Uncle Dave".

Both young people and adults are invited to these services.

Dragons Continue Drills In Preparing For 1945 Season Opener With Youngsville Five

Behind the Lines

Telephone News
In the November issue of the Telephone News, there appears a very interesting story about Charles H. Springer, well-known telephone company assistant manager here and very active in the Warren Field and Stream Club. Under the heading "Hobbes," the story tells of the interest which Charles has had in sporting dogs all of his life. Along with the article appear two photographs of Springer's prize dogs.

Scholastic Basketball
Scholastic basketball made its official debut last night in the western Pennsylvania region, and one of the top teams in the state was knocked off its feet by a fast Homestead team. Donora's Dragons, who copied the WPIAL football title recently, lost a 33-30 fight to the Homesteaders in both teams' opener.

And come Friday night, Warren's Dragons make their debut. In all probability, the Massmen will not create the impression that is expected of them. Most fans think that, with the available eight, the locals will be unbeatable. But you must keep in mind the fact that the first game never shows a team in mid-season form. It is a doubt, this year's quintet has immeasurable possibilities, but will these possibilities develop?

Girl Champions
Come next Monday night in Jamestown's High School gym, the American Red Heads, world's champion girls' basketball quintet, will meet an all-star team of Jamestown. The girls are on a tour of the nation, and they play various army and navy camps. The team averages six feet in height, and they have a percentage victory column of 60, which is bad for girls.

The preliminary to this game will match the Jamestown Jessup team, A. C. against Sheffield's Penn Bottle five.

PA-Bowling
Beginning Saturday, OPA will tell how much they can charge their customers. But the agency, announcing today that it was lifting price control, said that it could clamp the ceiling, presently at March, 1942, back on the dealers if they raised prices too high.

Are And There
Dean Nelson, a Warren High star of a few years' back, will again be on Westminster College's varsity crew this season. Nelson won his letter under Menor Washbaugh last year, and has been switched from a forward guard. . . . Corry opens its season December 4 against Erie in strong Vincent, then meets in succession Jamestown, Franklin and Warren. John Milanovich is the new Beaver coach. . . . Bradford's Owls open their season December 7 against DuBois. The racemen meet Farrell, Sharples, Sharon, and all the Erie schools this year. . . . Kane meets the Jewett December 4 in its inaugural, and Sheffield meets Pennsylvania December 7 in the first game.

. . . Jim Urbanski, ex-Dragon, purt great of two years ago, is spending a leave from the Navy here after serving some time in the South Pacific with the submarine service.

INVEST TODAY in America's Great Victory Loan.

Warren High's basketball Dragons continued to drill for their 1945-6 opener here next Friday night against the Youngsville Eagles with a flowing well of height but a partial lack of speed. Mentor Joseph A. Massa will be inaugurating his second year as head coach of the Dragons when the two neighbor quintets hit Beatty court at night o'clock Friday.

Tryouts have been completed both on the Varsity and J. V. squads, and squad members have settled down to heavy practices and drill sessions. Harry Hutchings, physical education instructor at Beatty, is leading the Junior Varsity, which is made up of freshmen and sophomores.

Beginning of a J-V squad will promise mentor Massa a flow of experienced material at the beginning of each season. For many years, the head cage coach has had to begin at random, with the exception of lettermen, and pick here and there. The J-V will turn and much-needed material for the season's quintets.

Massa has only one more practice day before his highly Dragons meet Art Amann's Youngsville aggregation. Already, the Blue and Whitties have held practice drills for two weeks, but, according to Massa, there is still plenty of good hard work.

Six lettermen have returned to the scene of action, five of them towering over the six-foot mark. Jack Eaton, 6'5" center, heads the giant department in following the footsteps of his brother, Jim, a 6'4" Dragon of two years ago. Neil Simmons and Ray Reed both stand at 6'2". Babcock a 6'2" and Dick Harris at an even 6'. Jim Scallise, another veteran, hits 5'10".

Massa has given no indication as to which five will open the 22-game campaign Friday night. Two other seniors, and numerous other aspirants, are battling the lettermen for starting berths. Al McNally, with two years experience, and Anthony Vescio, one of the top shotmakers, are both in the race.

The Varsity squad has been out to 21 men, but it is expected that it will be further reduced. Others on the team include "Big" Decker, Elmer Dutches, Fred Weigel, Gail Nelson, Jack Harrington, Algot Eckstohn, Tom Hampton, Elwood Beckwith, Chuck Regner, Bill Nordin, Bud Nordin, Ed Wollast, and Alan Schuler.

Massa predicted that his Dragons would have little trouble in knocking off the Eagles, but reminded his charges that Artie Amann will present no pushover. He added that the Eagles would be "up" for the game here.

The Dragons will undoubtedly retain the zone defense, which was inaugurated here last year on Massa's entrance as head mentor. However, the team may resort to man-for-man defense if the going "gets too tough." Whether or not the Dragons will use the conquering fast break offense or whether they will use set plays in their offense is still a mystery.

The Blue and Whitties will practice again today and Thursday before their Friday Youngsville encounter. Friday's preliminary will match the second squads of the two schools.

DEADLY DRINK
It was once the common custom in parts of Siberia to brew intoxicating drinks from the poisonous mushroom, "amanita muscaria." The drinker always ended with a splitting headache, unless he sipped too much, in which case he died.

The red, sunny side of an apple contains more vitamin C than does the greener, shady side.

Frank C. Peckinpugh, 85, oldest playing member of St. Petersburg's famous Kids and Kubs, composed of softball players 75 and older, calls for fast one to fool Al Lang, Florida's baseball ambassador celebrating 75th birthday. Peckinpugh is father of Roger, celebrated shortstop who is general manager of Indians.

Porkies Give Bell Linemen Much Bothers

In the current issue of the Telephone News there is a most interesting article relative to the trouble experienced on the cable lines of the Bell Company between Warren and Kane. The trouble was solved in a novel way by the sleuths of the telephone company as told in the article, which follows:

A new cause of cable trouble is Erehthion Dorsatus or porcupine. Holes were found in the cable sheath of the Kane-Warren toll cable, between the Kane repeater station and the Warren Central Office. Investigation revealed that they were evidently caused by some animal chewing the sheath. Since several long, black hairs were discovered clinging to the pole and faint claw marks were visible on the side of the pole. Cable trouble was found to be located at these holes and close examination revealed that a porcupine had taken a distinct liking to our lead-covered sheaths.

On Sunday, September 2, Supervising Foreman H. J. Bigam and Central Office Men C. L. Burdick, two of the most expert riflemen in the district, left Warren armed with a .300 Savage rifle for long-distance shooting, a 22 Hornet for close range work and a camera.

Upon reaching the location, Mr. Burdick climbed halfway up the pole and shot pictures of the cornered angry animal before Mr. Bigam finished him off with a single shot from the Hornet. The trouble was then cleared along with similar cases at other poles along the line. It is hoped that porcupines with a taste for lead-covered sheathing are a rare breed.

The epitaph for this porcupine ought to read:

With lead in his stomach and his head.

Good Record Protecting State Forests

Harrisburg, Nov. 28.—(A)—Fever fires, and less forest land destroyed by flames, have made the fall of 1945 "very good" in the eyes of the state department of forests and waters.

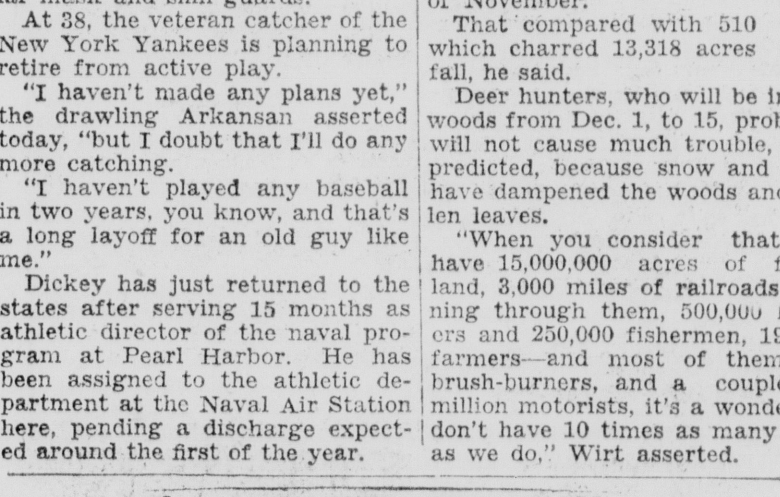

George H. Wirt, chief of the bureau of protection, estimated today that less than 200 fires will have destroyed 1500 acres of woodland from June 1 to the end of November.

That compared with 510 fires which charred 13,318 acres last fall, he said.

Deer hunters, who will be in the woods from Dec. 1 to 15, probably will not cause much trouble, Wirt predicted, because snow and frost have dampened the woods and fallen leaves.

"When you consider that we have 15,000,000 acres of forest land, 3,000 miles of railroad running through them, 500,000 hunters and 250,000 fishermen, 190,000 farmers—and most of them are brush-burners, and a couple of million motorists, it's a wonder we don't have 10 times as many fires as we do," Wirt asserted.

They Do As Ma Tells 'Em

One reason Cleveland Rams are going strong in National Football League is Mrs. Stella Walsh, 66, enthusiastic mother of Rams' boss, Coach Adam Walsh, left, and general manager Chili Walsh takes ma's advice and find it good. She became football minded years ago when Adam played in high school, now knows almost as much about game as her sons.

Army Signal-Caller Sick; Back Thursday

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
West Point, N. Y., Nov. 28.—(P)—It took a slight case of influenza to show how highly Army regards Arnold Tucker, the Cadets field general and chief passer.

Overlooked in the attention focused on the West Pointers' touchdown twins—Glenn Davis and "Doc" Blanchard—Tucker, key man of the Cadets' polished T machine, was the cause of much anxiety yesterday when he was hospitalized with the flu.

For a while when his temperature soared to 102 it looked like the 21-year-old Miami, Fla., quarterback might miss the big game with the Navy in Philadelphia Saturday.

But late in the afternoon the team physician, Capt. Robert W. Bayle, reported that Tucker's temperature had gone down and that the grid star would be released from the hospital by Thursday at the latest.

Tucker, a third stringer behind Doug Kenna and Tom Lombardo last year, has come along so fast this season that Coach Earl Blaik rates him above the graduated pair.

"The rest of the team can't operate if he doesn't operate," Blaik declared. "He is by far the best man under center we have had here. He has done a magnificent job. He passes well, he's a good runner, a good tackler, and a good blocker."

With Davis sweeping the ends and Blanchard blasting through the middle, Army hasn't had to do much passing this season. However, the records show that the Cadets' air arm isn't to be sneezed at. Tucker has done most of the passing and the teams' completion mark is well over 600.

HEALTH OPPORTUNITY IN THE FACTORY

Pennsylvania workers taking advantage of the chance to have their chests X-rayed when a mobile unit rolls into the plant. Periodic chest X-rays, which reveal presence of tuberculosis in lungs, most easily curable in its early stages, are advocated in the campaign against tuberculosis supported by Christmas Seals.

Middie Hopes Lie In Ends, Say Coaches

By BUS HAM
Annapolis, Md., Nov. 28.—(P)—One position at which Navy figures it holds a decided advantage over Army is at end, and there lies Navy's chances of penning up swift Glenn Davis.

Dick Duden, six feet tall, 203 pounds, 20 years old, and Leon Bramlett, six feet one, 195, and 21 years old, will shoulder the responsibility of halting Davis in Saturday's service spectacle in Philadelphia.

Nobody this season has been able to prevent Davis from sweeping wide on touchdown runs, as Army applied its one-two punch, Davis in the open and "Doc" Blanchard down the middle.

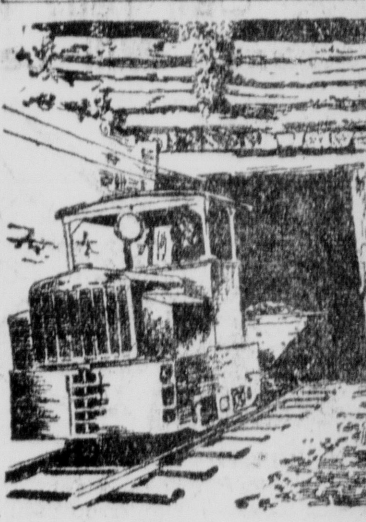

But Navy supporters contend that Davis never has run up against wingmen of the caliber of Duden and Bramlett.

Both have been mentioned repeatedly for All-America and Navy coaches consider them the "finest pair" of ends in the country.

Duden also utilizes his exceptional speed as one of the Navy's principal pass-receivers. He has caught 14, one of them for the score this year, put the Middies back in the running against Penn. They went on to a 14-7 victory in the last 25 seconds.

Bramlett, in his third year on the varsity, is at his best in close, hard contact and is one of the Navy's better blockers.

Behind Your Bonds Lies the Might of America

COAL IN IOWA

Ranking second to agriculture in Iowa's resources, coal has been mined for 95 years. Twenty-two counties produce it. From 3 1/2 million tons in 1880, it increased to 6 million in the peak year of 1917. In 1910, 297 mines employed 18,000 men. Recently the output has dropped to 3 million tons but with peace there is a good indication that this quantity will increase. The state's industries need this fuel and its mining operations will contribute to the Nation's wealth behind War Bonds.

(From Page One)

Austria in 1934 to bring in the diplomat's own words, "slowly increasing pressure" against Germany's neighbor.

Seyss-Inquart, who succeeded Schuschnigg as chancellor in the coup just before German invasion, was described by assistant U. S. Prosecutor Sidney S. Alderman as "the original Quisling."

Reporting on results of mental examinations, British, Russian and American psychiatrists agreed that Hess' loss of memory was self-induced and that he was, in the words of British doctors, "not insane at the present time in the strict sense of the word."

The British psychiatrists' report revealed that Hess had tried to commit suicide on several occasions since his sensational and mysterious flight to Scotland in May, 1941.

As today's session opened, the prosecution presented evidence from an American diplomat that the Nazis schemed from their earliest days of power to absorb Austria.

The charge that Reichsmarschal Hermann Goering and others of the 22 top Nazis leaders on trial openly spoke of annexing Austria to the Reich was made in an affidavit by George Messersmith, former U. S. Minister to Austria and now ambassador to Mexico.

MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL AT ERIE CRITICIZED

Erie, Nov. 28—(AP)—A committee of the Erie County Medical Society urged today a sweeping improvement of conditions at the city's 15-year-old municipal hospital for contagious diseases, Lakeview.

The committee, headed by Dr. Norbert D. Gannon, reported the hospital is not staffed, equipped or designed to handle contagious diseases requiring skilled care and attention.

In the report submitted to the society the committee recommended that Dr. James R. Smith, city health director, be made superintendent of the hospital, with complete charge of the administration and management.

Complimenting Mrs. George Fleming, superintendent for many years, who retired recently, the committee said she had done a good job with "very meager facilities."

Airport Program Is Moving Forward

Harisburg, Nov. 28—(AP)—Pennsylvania's airport construction program moved forward today with cash grants for work at two municipal fields and approval of sites for five privately-owned commercial field, one private field and three seaplane bases.

The State Aeronautics Commission granted $4,000 to Towanda to remove a power line and a telephone line, and $925 to Waynesburg for plans and surveys for extension and improvement of the field. Both grants match community contributions.

The commission sanctioned sites of fields planned by John H. Welch at Phoenixville, Joseph Glosier at Fairhill, John E. Myers at Mansfield, Central Penn Aero Sales, Inc., one mile west of Lebanon, and Edward Voegle at Titusville; seaplane bases to be established by Walter H. Nicolai, Jr., 2,000 feet south of the Delaware River Bridge at Philadelphia; Robert J. and Donald Stewart at Lecheville, and R. D. McAllister and Sons on Erie Harbor, and G. C. Black's private field at Tyrone.

police traced Anderson and brought him to trial.

The defendant himself told the jury of the slaying. He said he and a 14-year-old girl trailed the elderly Schmelbach down a street, that he threw the old man down and that the girl took a purse containing 45 from his pocket.

The trial had an oddity in procedure in that the prisoner refused to answer when asked for his plea. The court directed that a plea of "not guilty" be entered.

Highway Center Is Lost By Nationals

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Nov. 28—(AP)—The Chinese government admitted today the loss of the important southern Hopei province highway center of Felsiang to besieging Communists.

But Nationalists, meantime reportedly began long-delayed landings at the captured Manchurian seaport of Hulutao.

Felsiang, described by the Nationalists as one of the insurgent's main objectives, fell after a three month siege. The deputy commander of the town's garrison was killed in action. The highway center is east of the Peiping-Hankow railroad.

An unconfirmed dispatch in the Chungking Commercial Daily News said government forces had started landing at Hulutao, recently occupied by government troops after evacuation by Communist forces. The report did not say whether U. S. transports were used. Hulutao provides a strategically valuable landing site for troops to be used in the Nationalist drive on Changchun, capital of the province.

Communist attacks on Hanchung, 30 miles north of the rail junction city of Tsuchow on the Peiping-Hankow railroad, were repelled, Nationalist dispatches said.

Here will be the time clocks, etc., of the company.

The Greene Company has a number of large projects almost ready to handle and it will be one of the busy places of the town soon.

The new plant of the Air Reduction Company is also nearing completion. The buildings are under roof and the interior fittings and machinery are being put in place. At the present time a well is being sunk on the property.

New Capital Requirement Of Two Billion Seen for Bell Co.

The Bell Telephone System needs to earn at least from 6½ to 7 per cent on its total capital investment in order to attract from investors the large amounts of new capital required, according to Leroy A. Wilson, Vice President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, in an article to appear in the forthcoming issue of the Bell Telephone Magazine.

Looking ahead for ten years, Mr. Wilson foresees a possible new capital requirement for more than $2 billion—nearly as much as the Bell System has had to obtain in the last twenty-five years.

There are many thousands of jobs ahead in the manufacture and installation of plant to provide new and more and better services for the public, Mr. Wilson points out. Included in the System's definite plans are such items as taking care of the 2,000,000 presently unfilled orders for telephone service, restoring plant margins to pre-war standards, adding another million telephones in rural areas to the million already in service, expanding the program of fast and accurate dial service, adding hundreds of thousands of miles of new long distance circuits, creating a nation-wide network of coaxial cables which will transmit television programs as well as telephone messages, eliminating old telephone instruments and introducing new types, greatly enlarging the scope of radio telephone service and providing for the normal future growth of the business.

The money invested in the Bell System, Mr. Wilson reports, has increased from about $1 1/3 billions in 1920 to a total of more than $4 billions at the end of 1944. About two-thirds of these $4 billions have been invested by stockholders, who now number more than 680,000. The remaining one-third is borrowed money. It is upon this entire capital structure, composed of both stock and bonds, that the need for earnings of at least 6½ to 7 per cent is based.

Reviewing the history of Bell System service to this country, Mr. Wilson lists many specific improvements which have been brought about during the last twenty-five years.

The number of telephones has nearly tripled in that period, while population has gained only about 30 per cent. The average daily number of conversations handled by the System went up from 33 million to more than 85 million, and conversations per person increased from about 160 to 280 per year.

Inter-city telephone messages shot up from 360 million to more than 1,500 million, and over the routes of the A. T. and T. Long Lines Department the number of conversations increased sevenfold, from 25 million a year to about 195 million.

WATCH FOE'S LEAD FOR TIP TO TRUMP

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY

America's Card Authority

Jack Cushing of New York, formerly of Boston, has been playing such fine bridge lately that it would not be surprising to see him win one of the events in the national championships tournament next week at Atlantic City. Here is a hand Cushing played in the recent Metropolitan Tournament in New York.

Cushing won the opening lead with the ace of spades, but he did not make the mistake of ruffing a spade. He led a heart and went up with dummy's ace, returned

Changes In Insurance On Automobiles

Pennsylvania insurers of motor vehicles, especially those bought on the installment plan, have a state insurance commission warning that new regulations will become effective January first, says a dispatch from Harrisburg.

Under the new setup, "insured financed motor vehicle" regulations passed March 9, 1938, will be resinded and the new policy made effective in cooperation with the commonwealth's program to halt "sharp practices" of finance companies, especially those dealing in cars.

The new regulation will make it necessary to list both the finance company and the buyer of a car on an insurance policy so the finance company is protected for the unpaid balance and the purchaser for the amount he already paid.

They were worked out by the insurance commission and the joint state government commission's committee investigating finance companies.

Another regulation designed to curb the alleged irregular activities of finance companies will become effective Dec. 1. It will have the Bureau of Motor Vehicles where a debt is involved in an auto transaction, issue a supplemental form of application with a car title, showing a complete breakdown and itemizing account of unpaid balance including interest rates, service charges, insurance and other items.

FARM NEWS

PLAN LAYOUTS NOW FOR SPRING CONTOUR WORK

Since contour strip cropping plans can be initiated at any time, County Agent O. C. Tritt suggests that layouts be established during the slack fall and winter season in order not to interfere with the spring work, and to have them ready for operation when the spring plowing starts.

Contour strip cropping, advocated as an effective erosion control measure, offers a number of added advantages. Farmers report that the contour strips not only help mold the soil in place but give better yields, since they hold extra moisture for the growing season.

Contour strips, which bend around slopes on the "level", also are easier to operate than conventional fields where rows invariably conform to the field layout and in many instances run up and down grade. Contour operations not only require less power, but also are easier on the operator, then in the up-and-down grade operations. By merging two or more fields in contour layouts, longer rows are made possible, and less time is lost in turning. Extension agronomists of the Pennsylvania

State College state that in some counties contour strips nearly a mile long have been established.

The start of contour strip operations can be made with least interference in crop rotation at planting time, and for that reason farmers interested in these erosion control practices establish their layouts at once if they are doing fall plowing, or well in advance of their spring work.

Simple, homemade equipment can be used to make the contour layouts, and farmers who desire detailed information can get necessary assistance without cost to them from the county agent.

MARSHALL IS ASSIGNED TO TROUBLE SPOT

President Names Lavishly-Praised Military Leader To Be Ambassador To China

IS A SPECIAL ENVOY

Washington, Nov. 28.—(P)—President Truman today called on his most lavishly praised military leader, General George C. Marshall to step into the world's No. 1 postwar trouble spot—China.

Amid signs of increasing American concern over the civil war in that country, Mr. Truman quickly followed Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley's spectacular resignation as ambassador yesterday by calling Marshall from his week-old retirement.

The former army chief of staff will become special envoy to China as a temporary replacement to Hurley, who caught both the president and Secretary of State Bynnes by surprise with his 1500-word statement that he was quitting.

By selecting a five-star general rather than choosing a civilian diplomat, Mr. Truman appeared to be emphasizing again the viewpoint that the present top job in China remains the disarming of Japanese troops.

Both the war and state departments have said repeatedly in recent weeks that United States troops are in northern China only to facilitate the surrender of Japanese forces, not as instruments of American foreign policy.

Court Martial For Warship Captain

Washington, Nov. 28.—(P)—A public court martial will try Capt. Charles B. McVay 3d beginning Monday on undisclosed charges concerning the loss of his ship, the heavy cruiser Indianapolis, and 880 men on July 30.

McVay, 47-year-old native of Ephrata, Pa., now lives in Washington. He had commanded the Indianapolis since Nov. 18, 1944.

The court will convene at the navy yard here. Details of the charges will be withheld until they are read to McVay, a navy department announcement late yesterday said.

The Indianapolis sailed from San Francisco July 16 with a cargo of atomic bomb material for Guam. She made delivery and was returning to the United States when she went down. A navy communiqué attributed the loss to "enemy action." A later recapitulation of naval losses disclosed that a submarine sank the ship off Leyte in the Philippines.

Casualties among the 1,196 on board were 100 percent—875 wounded, five known dead, 316 missing.

McKEAN COUNTY CORONER

He succeeds Thomas R. Clark, resigned. Beatty's appointment, announced yesterday afternoon, runs until January, 1948.

Government May Take Hand In Settling G.M. Wage Dispute

The government takes a hand in settling the General Motors wage dispute at a meeting with CIO Auto Workers officials in Washington today, but company representatives won't be there.

Vice President Walter P. Reuther and other top UAW-CIO officials were scheduled to confer with Edgar L. Warren, chief labor department conciliator, but GM President Charles E. Wilson said he couldn't leave Detroit "on account of the strike situation."

Secretary of Labor Schweikert yesterday reported Wilson would meet with Warren. The GM president said there was some mistake. Warren told reporters he had no definite arrangements to talk with Wilson or other company officials.

Last night 400 CIO pickets who for more than 15 hours had "imprisoned" 65 supervisory employees at a GM plant in Saginaw, Mich., disbanded after an appeal by the union's regional director. A dispute over paying the strikers their last week's wages caused the incident, the first in the week-old strike which has idled 225,000 em-

Tribunal Names Top Nazis Who Planned Austrian Coup

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Nuernberg, Nov. 28.—(P)—Franz von Papen and Arthur Seyss-Inquart—two of the top Nazi leaders on trial before an international military tribunal—were described by American prosecutors today as leaders of the fifth column which paved the way for Hitler's invasion of Austria in 1938.

While the Nazi plot to seize Austria was unveiled, the four-power court announced medical examiners had found that Rudolf Hess, Hitler's former No. 2 deputy, was "not insane" at present. Arguments on Hess' plea to be released from trial on grounds of amnesia were set for Friday.

American prosecutors met their first setback of the trial when the court ruled against their move to introduce an affidavit from Kurt Schmechmegg, deposed as chancellor and jailed for seven years by Hitler, in which he told of Nazi plotting against Austria. The tribunal upheld a defense contention that Schmechmegg should testify personally instead of by affidavit.

In a mass of government documents, letters and affidavits, the prosecution showed that von Papen, known as Germany's wildest diplomat, was sent by Hitler to

Police Chief Raps State Parole Plan

Erie, Nov. 28.—(P)—Announcing that the arrest of a 14-year-old boy and a man aged 25 cleared up a three months' series of bedroom burglaries here, Police George J. Christoph today criticized Pennsylvania's penal institutions for releasing such inmates without correcting their habits.

Christoph said the boy, Leonard Szewczyk, and his uncle, Stanley Szewczyk, accused of 54 house breaks, had been confined in correctional institutions.

"The state penal institutions are stepping stones to the electric chair," said the chief.

"All criminals should be given examination by capable psychiatrists before they are turned out of prisons and reform schools."

"Just because the law says they should serve a specific term is no reason why any criminal should be released because his time is up."

Christoph said the Szewczyks' boy had served in the Harbor Creek Home for Boys and George Junior Republic. The uncle, he said, had put in time at the Harboreck Home, Morgantown, White Hill and Western Penitentiary.

BALLOTTING UNDER WAY IN STEEL PLANTS

Most of the Nation's Iron Workers Voting On Whether or Not They Favor a Strike

600,000 ARE INVOLVED

Pittsburgh, Nov. 28.—(A)—Heavy voting by steel workers was reported from the nation's large production centers today on the question of whether a steel strike is favored to support demands of the CIO-United Steel workers for a $2 a day wage increase.

The first return reported was from Chicago, where workers at the Republic Steel Corporation's Grand Crossing voted 41 to 5 in sympathy with a strike. Fifty-two out of 70 eligible voters balloted there. In Utah, the union said 50 of the first 52 votes cast favored strike.

Results from five northern Ohio plants showed the workers favored a strike by approximately a 3 to 1 margin, said Walter E. Taag, regional director of the NLRB. The vote in these plants was 364 for a strike, and 112 against.

Reports from the teaming mills centers in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and other areas were that the polling of the steel workers by the National Labor Relations Board was going on smoothly.

It was the greatest strike poll ever taken, involving tens of thousands of steel workers across the country.

The CIO-United Steel Workers headquarters here estimated between 600,000 and 700,000 workers were voting, a spokesman explaining a definite figure was impossible because of fluctuating employment conditions in recent months.

The voting in this large steel center began early. Night shifts from the blast furnaces and open hearts cast their votes as they completed their turns. Day workers voted as they reported for duty.

The balloting was orderly. It was also heavy at the big Homestead works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. Representatives of the National Labor Relations Board were at all polls to supervise.

The question on the ballot was: "Do you wish to permit an interruption of war production in war time as a result of this dispute?"

An NLRB official explained the wording was as required by the War Labor Disputes act and there was no authority to change it.

Regardless of the outcome of the balloting the union emphasized that a strike will not necessarily result. Workers were told a walk-out is subject to the future decision of the union's international wage policy committee, the executive board and the international officers.

Field directors in the 27 states where balloting is taking place in 766 plants have been warned by international officers to guard against unauthorized walkouts.

Affected are the mills of "Big Steel" and "Little Steel," scores of small independent factories, and large producers of aluminum, iron ore and other related products.

The vote was called to enforce the union's demands for a $2 a day wage increase. It follows the re-

Insurgents Are Marching On Teheran

BY LEOPOLD HERMAN

Teheran, Nov. 28.—(P)—Iranian government forces were under orders today to defend the capital at all costs against an insurgent military force of 5,000 reported marching toward the city from the north.

The government announced officially last night that forces of insurgents in Azerbaijan province were marching southward along the main rail line toward the capital.

Observers here believed it was questionable whether the Azerbaijan forces would continue to march on Teheran itself, in view of the presence of armed Iranian troops and tanks at Sharifabad, four miles east of Kazvin. But the government announced that one insurgent column had occupied the small rail town of Talikistan, nine miles southwest of Kazvin and 85 miles northwest of Teheran.

The government said the vanguard of this force was driving on Kazvin and was expected to reach it by nightfall.

Confirmation was given by the government to earlier reports that another insurgent column had occupied all of Zenjan, a rail station 170 miles northwest of the capital. Zenjan is the capital of Khamseh province, where the government has reported insurgents operating with weapons distributed by "unknown people."

The government said Astara, Caspian sea port 230 miles northwest of Teheran on the Iranian-Soviet border, also was occupied by the insurgents.

The Azerbaijan have announced a demand for autonomy within the Iranian state.

Caterers for the game said the expected 105,000 grid fans will also devour 400 gallons of mustard, 15,000 ham and cheese sandwiches, 50,000 bars of candy and 30,000 cups of hot chocolate.

Diet Heckles Jap Premier During Speech

By RUSSELL BRINES

Tokyo, Nov. 28.—(P)—Prince Fumimaro Konoye, former premier, was named from the floor of the Japanese house of representatives today as one of two men "fundamentally responsible for the war." The boisterous house also heckled melancholy Premier Eizon Kijuro Shidehara after his "state of the nation" speech to the diet.

Takao Saito, 75-year-old parliamentarian, asserted from the floor that Hirohito and Pearl Harbor Premier Hideki Tojo were responsible for the war, adding that "the Japanese people hate these men more than anyone else." (Tojo is awaiting trial as a war-crime suspect; Konoye, free, has been eyeing wistfully a fresh plunge into politics as a commoner and liberal.)

The premier, whose cabinet is foredoomed to collapse on conclusion of this diet session, said that Japan, having accepted the Potsdam declaration, was obliged to remove all obstacles to a revival of development of democratic tendencies among its people. He reminded the diet it must reflect the public will and "for that purpose there must be full and fair election."

All vestiges of militarism and ultra-nationalism must be wiped out of the educational system, he went on. He offered as immediate problems the food question, especially difficult since the rice crop is the lowest in 23 years, and assimilation of "several millions" of ex-soldiers into civilian life.

Shidehara advocated "healthy growth of labor unions."

Strike of Students Disrupts Classes

Pittsburgh, Nov. 28.—(A)—A strike by students disrupted classes in South Hills and Langley High schools today as an outgrowth of a dispute over whether 53 teachers will receive extra pay for after school athletic coaching at public schools.

At South Hills High all boys—some of them football and basketball players—walked out and at Langley both boys and girls walked out.

There were indications the strike might spread to other schools.

At Prospect school some students were carrying signs reading: "no sports; no school."

School Superintendent Earl A. Dimmock said he had referred the coaches pay dispute to the proper committee of the board of education. Attorney Bresci R. P. Leonard, acting for the coaches, notified Dr. Omer walking home from the coaches' decision to refuse further coaching assignments until their pay demands were met.

MOTORIST ARRESTED AFTER FATAL CRASH

Clarion, Nov. 28.—(P)—Justice of the Peace James Arner said Clifford Burrell, of St. Petersburg, pleaded innocent yesterday to a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the automobile death of Leroy Clark, 13, of Emlenton, R. D. 3.

Burrell also denied failing to stop at the scene of an accident. The boy was killed when hit by a car while walking home from basketball practice at Salem school. Another boy, William Sherman, suffered a broken leg.

TWO KILLED IN CRASH OF TRUCK AND AUTO

Latrobe, Nov. 28.—(P)—Collision of a lumber truck and an automobile killed two men and critically injured a third near here yesterday.

Dead were Lloyd Burl Bliss, 59, Greensburg, driver of the car, and Frank Zitterbart, 48, Latrobe.

Raymond Kuhs, 21, of Youngstown, Westmoreland, was in a critical condition in Latrobe hospital.

After the collision, the truck plowed over a 15-foot embankment.

Many Millions Will Be Spent In Expansion of Industries In Borough and Adjacent Areas

Expansion of Warren industry promises a Merry Christmas for the town in years to come. In all, millions are being spent in new construction and in plant expansion in the immediate vicinity.

Just west of Warren on the 100-acre site acquired from the Warren Borough School District, the Pennsylvania Electric Company has started actual work on the erection of its new $4,000,000 steam generating power plant, which will provide additional power for the Warren and Bradford district.

To the south of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks today there is a scene of much activity. During the past few weeks the site has been cleared of all brush and trees and engineers have been busy staking out the sites of various features of the construction.

A new road has also been laid out from the highway to the plant site and bulldozers arrived yesterday for the grading of this roadway. It will afford easy ingress to the property during the weeks to come.

Contractors have also staked out the switch which will be run from the Pennsylvania railroad into the new plant. The switch will leave the Pennsylvania railroad just east of the roadway leading down to the site and will swing to the west and south. The switch to be first constructed will be 1200 feet in length and its building will require a large amount of grading and some fills of considerable size. It will carry coal from the railroad to the plant and the coal storage building of the new plant will be so equipped an entire carload of coal can be dumped and the car returned to the switch in a few minutes. When completed the switch will be extended to make a return of the empty cars to the railroad.

Stakes have also been set for the larger buildings of the plant. The main structure will be approximately 150 x 200 feet and towering stacks will rise from the building. The heavy machinery, turbines, generators, etc., have been ordered and by the time the buildings are in readiness the machinery will be ready for installation. It can all be handled into the new plant by way of the switches on the company property. There will be several buildings of the plant.

Temporary buildings for the use of the company engineers and the contractors will be erected along the new road to be graded into the site. These have all been staked out and work on erecting them will be started soon.

Core tests are being taken at the present time to provide data for the specifications of the foundation installations. Three drills are in operation and the work is fast nearing completion.

The construction of the steam generating plant and the various features in and about it is a big job. With received a contract for this winter construction work can be speeded up with the coming of spring. A new roadway along the river frontage of the property will be constructed and this will be done in accordance with specifications of the highway department assuring a firm road westward from the plant site. One feature of the plant will be a pump house with heavy pipes to take a water supply from the river. Large intake pipes and outlets will be installed and the fact that such a plentitude of water was at hand aided much in the selection of the site.

Philip and Milton Zainbeck, of Corry, yesterday began moving equipment to the site. The Corry firm has received a contract for preliminary grading, drainage and excavating at the site.

The equipment to be used includes power shovels, bulldozer and other heavy equipment. Their

Fugitives Using Gun Force Couple to Give Up Auto

Bellefonte, Nov. 28.—(P)—Deputy Warden C. C. Rhoads reported today that two escaped prisoners from the Rockview prison farm forced a farmer and his wife at gun-point last night to give up their automobile and drove east in the car.

Rhoads said that Myrl W. Kerstetter and his wife, living about a mile from Bellefonte and seven miles from the prison farm, reported the two men came to their home.

He said the couple identified their visitors as the missing prisoners, Sheldon D. Miller, 25, Lycoming county, sentenced to 2-to-4 years for larceny and burglary and Henry Van Buren, 23, Bradford county, sentenced to 2-to-10 years for robbery. They escaped from the prison farm yesterday.

Rhoads said the pair got a shotgun from the backdoor of the kitchen at the Kerstetter home and also gathered up some shells before they left.

Mrs. Kerstetter said the pair to a reporter:

"We (she and her husband) were listening to the radio in the front room and heard the back door open. Before we could get to the kitchen one of the men entered."

Mrs. Kerstetter said the pair demanded to know where the keys to their car were and Kerstetter told them they were back of the sun visor in it.

"They told us that they wouldn't harm us if we didn't call the patrol within half an hour. I was nervous and upset so Myrl went to a neighbor right after they left for help for me. Before they left they went around and pulled down all the blinds."

Two other members of the family were upstairs in bed at the time.

State police set up road blocks throughout the territory and sent out descriptions of the sedan automobile.

FORMER CHIEF OF STAFF MAY BE SUMMONED

Move Made Within Committee to Hear Marshall Before He Leaves For New Post

MAY ASK FOR DIARY

Washington, Nov. 28.—(P)—Former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew testified today that some codes used by the American embassy in Tokyo were destroyed before war broke out December 7, 1941.

And some were not destroyed until after the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor on that date, he told the senate-house committee investigating the disaster. The inquiry also brought these developments today:

(1) Moves within the committee to hear General George C. Marshall before the former chief of staff leaves for China as President Truman's special envoy.

(2) A brief flurry over a suggestion by Senator Brewster (R-Maine) that committee counsel be permitted to go through Grew's personal diary in search of items that perhaps should be studied.

Grew told of the destruction of the codes after Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) asked him:

"Do you remember when you got word to destroy codes in the embassy at Tokyo?"

"We destroyed some of our codes a few days before Pearl Harbor," Grew replied. "We kept certain others until the last moment; we destroyed them after we learned that war had begun."

Several members said they wanted to hear Gen. Marshall before his departure.

Chairman Barkley (D-Ky.) told reporters he thought "the committee would expect to hear him before he leaves." Senator George (D-Ga.) assumed Marshall would be leaving soon and thought it was important to call the former army chief of staff "right away."

Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.) commented that he would be "inclined to insist upon hearing him before he leaves."

An army board which investigated the surprise Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941, took especial note of the way a final warning message from Marshall to General Walter C. Short, army commander in Hawaii, was handled.

The board said that while Marshall telephoned an alert to General Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines, he sent a similar message to Short by commercial cables. It was not delivered until three hours after the attack.

Former Secretary of State Hull was excused from testifying today because of cold, rainy weather. As the hearing resumed, Joseph C. Grew, former U. S. ambassador to Tokyo, returned to the witness chair.

Rep. Murphy (D-Pa.) said today he plans to ask Cordell Hull specifically whether the former secretary of state received information from any source December 6 or 7, 1941, that the Japanese were planning the Pearl Harbor attack.

Murphy, a member of the senate-house committee investigating the attack, told a reporter:

Delays on Debate For U.N.O. Scored

Washington, Nov. 28.—(P)—Senator Connally (D-Tex.) declared today he is "not going to stand for" delaying interruptions in the senate's debate on American participation in the United Nations Organization.

As the chamber prepared to take up a series of Republican-sponsored amendments to a bill that would place this country actively in the peace-keeping set-up, the chairman of the foreign relations committee told reporters he will fight them all off in a drive for a final vote.

Connally successfully fought off attempts yesterday to have the UNO measure laid aside in favor of other bills and listened intently as Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) delivered a four-hour criticism of the United Nations and current foreign policy.

Wheeler said that if UNO already were functioning to stop aggression "you would be compelled to go to war with Russia."

RADAR BEAR FOR PILOTS

Pittsburgh, Nov. 28.—(P)—Aviators arriving at the greater Pittsburgh Airport will be able to use a radar beam within the next few months, enabling them to fly in any sort of weather. Allegheny County Aviation Director John B. Sweeney said installation of "blind flying" equipment will start next week and should be completed in 60 to 90 days.

Council Will Hear Report on Conference

At the meeting of the Town Council to be held next Monday evening a report will be presented by Burgess Ray Steber and City Solicitor Sidney Blackman relative to the conference held at Harrisburg last week. The conference was in regard to the proposed construction of a new bridge at or near Warren by the Pennsylvania railroad. The railroad company was represented, the state highway department and other state departments were also represented. The local men learned much of the proposed change in Pennsylvania lines through Warren and the report to Council promises to be of much interest. It is also expected that additional information will be given Council by the Building Committee relative to the Central Fire Station. From all indications now the present station will be rebuilt and put into good shape for the use of the firemen. However no room exists at that station for a training ground and Fire Chief Charles A. Haugh regrets this fact.

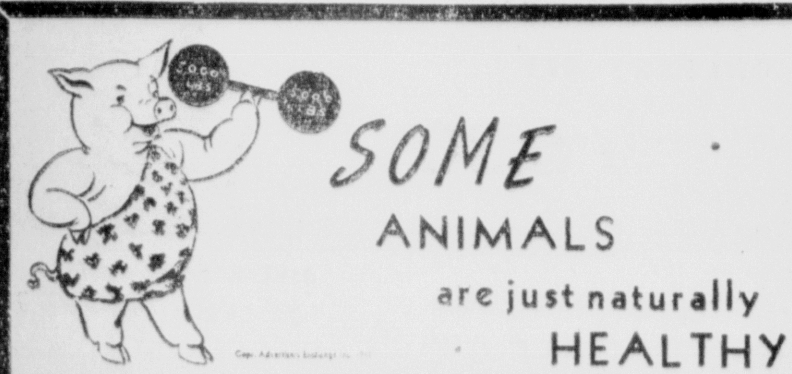

TO HONOR SEYMOUR

Headquarters reminded this morning that all Scouters are invited to attend the get-together Thursday evening at eight o'clock in the Girl Reserve room of the YWCA activities building, to honor Scout Executive Chester Seymour who is leaving Saturday to take over his new duties in the Saranac Lake area, in New York state.

World's Speed Record

AT OVER TEN MILES A MINUTE this British jet-propelled fighter plane (top picture) is flashing over the measured course on England's south coast. The lower picture shows the plane (in circle) watched by people lining the Kent cliffs. The 406 miles per hour speed this Meteor plane achieved puts Britain top in sea, land and air speeds. Britain also has held the long-distance flying record since 1932 when two Wellesley planes flew 7,158 miles nonstop from Egypt to Australia.

Columnist Cites the Advantages Of Hunting In Warren County

John Cummings, of the Philadelphia Inquirer, who conducts a column that is strewn with laughs and some good horse sense, has secured one of the little booklets put out by the Warren Chamber of Commerce. In a column in this morning's Inquirer Cummings gives Warren a wealth of free advertising, although in a humorous manner.

He says: For the nimrod seeking accommodations the place to go is Warren county and when you get a line on what you can grab up there in the way of food and shelter for a few bucks (meaning money) you're likely to spend the entire year in an idealistic Natty Bumppo existence.

The Warren Chamber of Commerce has compiled a list of lodgings for the visiting huntmen and in the event we don't get the United Nations headquarters because of lack of accommodation, we know where the delegates can go. Not where you guessed, but to Warren county.

You take for example, Mrs. Louis Slater's place in Sheffield, with rates at $1.50 a day; $2.50 for three meals. "Right in hunting territory," says the Chamber of Commerce folder. "Deer often come into the yard."

If you are thinking of hunting from the home of Mrs. J. K. Crooks, Corydon, 2 a word to the wise should be sufficient. "No drinkers." They want "no drinkers." at Kenneth Shellhouse's place in Pittsfield. Mrs. Grant Sharp in Tidoute warns: "No drinking. Only respectable men wanted."

There is a bath at Mrs. Viola Thayer's place in Youngsville and you can stop there for 75 cents a night. Like everything else, there's a catch to it: "Clean, respectable people desired. Meals one block away."

Bear hunters who have thronged the town for the past few days were scarce today as the weather man turned on the wrong brand for the boys. The rain has made visibility in the woods low and hunting is not as good as it was on the opening day and Tuesday.

Kinzua district woodlands evidently have yielded the biggest bears of the kills so far reported. Emmett Huntley, 320 First street, Cory, brought down a big one while hunting on Dutchman's Run. It tipped the scales at 312 pounds. One shot accounted for the big fellow. The group of men in the Huntley party had a hard time getting the animal down to their car and worked from 11:30 until 4 o'clock dragging the carcass through the woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Baugher, of Sharon, also hunted in the Kinzua district and Mr. Baugher brought down a bear on Willow Run near Corydon. This animal weighed 400 pounds and was a beautiful specimen. Mrs. Baugher did not get her bear and is back in the woods today hopeful that she, too, will be able to bring down a big fellow.

Titusville To Have Airport; Work Started

Titusville Herald—The site of Edward Voegel's airfield at the former Mahle farm on the Meadville road, about two and one-half miles west of Titusville, has been approved by the State Aeronautics Commission, according to word received here yesterday.

The state inspectors looked over the site about a week ago and gave Mr. Voegel permission to start work. He told The Herald last night he began clearing the field at once in order to get as much done as possible before the coming of bad weather. The old orchard near the road has been removed and grading of the runways started.

Mr. Voegel plans to lay out two runways at this time, the north and south and the east and west. He said if the weather remained good, most of the grading of the runways could be completed within two weeks. He has a bulldozer on the grounds and has used it to pull stumps and level off the holes where the trees stood.

Construction of the buildings will depend also upon weather conditions. Mr. Voegel is anxious to get two hangars built as soon as possible.

Service Work For Girl Scouts Topic of Talk

Community service as an integral part of the Girl Scout program was emphasized by Mrs. William Glassman in her talk to the Girl Scout Leaders' Association at the YMCA Tuesday evening. She spoke of her work as chairman of the Service Bureau, which finds and brings to Girl Scouts opportunities to use their skills to help other people.

A display of more than two dozen different and intriguing tray favors which may be made by Girl Scouts and Brownie Scouts for patients in hospitals were exhibited by Mrs. Donald Taft. The program was in charge of Mrs. Robert Carlson. Mrs. Clifford Briggs was elected to represent the Leaders' Association together with the president, Mrs. Arthur Chapman. Their terms will begin in January, 1946, and run for one year.

The leaders voted to recommend to the program committee of the Council that all Brownie Scout leaders be asked to meet in the middle of January to plan a Brownie "Rev" to be held in February and that two Girl Scouts from each troop meet later to plan a party for all Girl Scouts to take place near the date of the Girl Scout birthday, March 12.

Leaking Oil Threatens Tank At Henrys Mill

Hunters in the woods at Henry's Mills on Monday shot a hole in an oil line leading to a tank on the John Haddon lease. Not noting what they had done the hunters moved on and the oil leaked from the tank. Mr. Haddon estimates that a loss of from 30 to 50 barrels took place. During Monday night in some manner the oil took fire and to save the property the Sheffield fire department was called and put out the blaze. It was then discovered that the oil line had been shot into.

An investigation is under way by the sheriff's office that may result in the apprehension of the careless hunters.

Tidoute Man's Car Was Damaged

Titusville, Nov. 23—Two men escaped injury when a 1941 Plymouth sedan owned and driven by Eugene Berlin of Tidoute, skidded on Main street near the City Service refinery Monday morning at 9:30 and crashed into the ditch and the embankment along the road. The right side of the car was badly damaged and the driving mechanism was put out of commission. Paul Berlin was the other passenger in the car.

The pavement was icy at the time, but the police investigating the accident were unable to learn how the machine got out of control. No other car was involved.

Loss Was Gain

The 13 original states of the Union had a total area of 892,155 square miles in 1790, of which 24,155 were under water. Today these states have a total area of 326,378 square miles, other states having been formed within their boundaries.

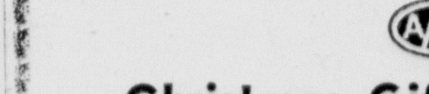

Some animals can draw their eyes back into their sockets.

They Conducted Jap Ceremony

Hollywood Canteen Closes After Star-Studded History

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, Nov. 28.—(P)—The Hollywood canteen played its last show last night and a lot of high priced cheers marked the occasion.

Shortly after midnight, Kay Kyser and Bette Davis led the canteen's volunteer workers and entertainers and the audience of 618 in singing "Auld Lang Syne." There were few dry eyes as the last song was sung in the famed building that had entertained more than 3,000,000 service men and women.

Five thousand soldiers, sailors and marines streamed in and out of the canteen from 2 o'clock in the afternoon until closing. They ate turkey dinners and watched an array of talent which couldn't be seen under any other auspices. Ingrid Bergman and Jack Benny did a scene from "Casablanca." Dinah Shore sang "Yes My Darling Daughter." Rudy Vallee sang the Maine Stein song. The tireless Bob Hope was there and John Garfield, Van Johnson, Eddie Bracken, Susan Hayward, Hedy Lamarr, Roddy McDowell and many others.

The big and the small people of Hollywood were there to close their canteen. It had been a community project and its success was due to the efforts of a tireless group of volunteers, some of whom never missed a night.

At one point in the evening Bette Davis, guiding light of the canteen, kicked off her shoes and mused about the place's history. "What we have done, and what any other canteen in the country has done, is a mere nothing compared to what our service men have done for us," she said. And she wasn't acting.

Last night's program ended the three-year history of the canteen. It all began when Miss Davis visited the famed stage door canteen in New York in early 1942. She returned to Hollywood with the idea that the movie town should have something similar to entertain servicemen.

On Oct. 3, 1942, the Hollywood canteen opened its doors and gave soldiers and sailors and marines the most star-studded show they had ever seen. Every night until last night, the big and the little of Hollywood did their best to entertain their guests in uniform. With the war over, the canteen's directors decided to close shop. The half million dollars in the organization's treasury has been turned over to a foundation to administer the fund for the benefit of veterans.

A WORD TO HUNTERS

Warren has been invaded the past couple days by a small army of bear hunters, and still thousands of other nimrods are getting themselves all set to hurry into the state's woods for the deer season which will open on December first, as Secretary Seth Gordon of the State Game Commission sounds an ominous warning.

Warren county usually has its quota of hunting fatalities, and this year may be no exception, although it is sincerely hoped that it will. With the hunting season only half over there has been a total of over 25 fatalities in the state so far this year with hundreds injured. Last year for the entire twelve months there were only 23 persons who met death in this manner.

There are penalties for the careless handling of firearms; for mistaking a human being for game; for carrying loaded weapons in an automobile, and other violations. Fines paid, or damages collected, however, will not bring back a life of a fellow sportsman who died at your hands.

Resolve to use the utmost care during the hunting season so that you will not be a party to a serious accident or fatality.

THEY NEED MORE TIME

Santa Claus is under attack by a Goucher College professor who would liquidate the jolly old man. Prof. Ivan E. McDougale, who teaches sociology, profoundly declares that Santa should be retired. To quote the professor's exact words:

"The Santa Claus myth has lived too long in terms of child psychology. Parents should substitute democratic philosophy. Children would have to learn to get along."

Thus the professor outlines a job of the first magnitude for American parents. With the number of shopping days until Christmas daily becoming smaller—naturally—they are told to get a big supply of democratic philosophy on hand to take the place of Santa Claus.

Persuading the boys and girls to take a liberal offering of democratic philosophy in lieu of trains and tricycles and dolls and candy and nuts and the 10,000 other items that Santa always carries in his sleigh is too big a job to be done in so short a time.

Perhaps it would be well to send an urgent request to Professor McDougale to postpone the eradication of Santa Claus and the glorification of democratic philosophy amid the spangles and glamor of Christmas. The parents of America are entitled to have more time to do this job.

CHRISTMAS SALES BOOM

Despite delays in production incident to strikes and reconversion, national retail authorities predict that Christmas trade will soar to new record highs this year.

The forecast is based on the end of the war psychology and the return of millions from the armed forces, and is backed by peak cash or other liquid resources in the hands of the public. Shortages will limit volume sales in many lines, but merchants are noting that customers readily turn to alternative items if their first choice are unavailable. In the last three years Christmas buying was early in the fall because of the necessity for sending gifts to the men and women of the fighting forces in foreign lands.

This year the shopping is assuming a more normal pattern which, according to retail authorities, will mean a peak buying period from Dec. 6 to 15. The stores are prepared for the first peacetime Christmas since 1940, with the best stocks and assortments that manufacturers can deliver.

It seems that families everywhere are determined to have a "real Christmas" in 1945 after war years that meant curtailment of activity and limitation of exchanges.

Attention of every reader is called to a letter signed by "A Warren Taxpayer" which will be found in another column of this page. It is in regard to the proposed "Living Memorial" and contains much food for thought on the subject, regardless of the opinion the reader may have about the project.

Read Today: John 1:1-14.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

THE LIVING MEMORIAL

Warren Times-Mirror
November 21, 1945.

Editor, Warren Times-Mirror
Warren, Pennsylvania

Dear Sir:

Herein is offered a criticism of the proposal for a community athletic park; and an alternate proposal. Three inter-related questions are considered:

(1) Other community improvements required by law or badly needed.

(2) The relative merits and need of the specific proposal.

(3) The method of financing.

(1) Other Required or Needed Civic Improvements

Funds available for community projects are limited! A wise and prudent people, therefore, will make a careful choice between various possible projects based on their relative necessity or desirability.

State law requires the provision of a modern sewage disposal system and traffic lights located on standards at the curb. A new central fire station with space for personnel training is necessary. An addition to the courthouse is apparently needed now, and it will not be many years before a complete replacement of this old structure will be one of the community's "musts". The obsolescent Warren General Hospital is to be replaced by a new plant as soon as funds can be raised.

Adequate parking for the business district has long been a chronic problem which each year becomes more acute. Another is the mill race. This sluggish stream of dirty water is an eyesore, at times a nosedive, and a health menace in a number of different ways. For these reasons, if for no other, it should be acquired by the community and filled in. But this would at the same time answer the parking problem; for the area from Market street up would provide sufficient parking for many years to come, and in a central area within 2 1/2 blocks of every section of the business district! Aside from the hospital there is no project which would add as much in civic improvement and health, and satisfaction to all the people as this! Twice in the past several years the Council has devoted much thought to undertaking this, only to drop it each time because of the cost!

Many of our streets are badly in need of major repairs. The salaries paid to many of the community's employees, especially our school teachers, are much too low. The average salary of our teachers is less than that of many semi-skilled laborers, yet it is these teachers whom we depend upon to give our children an adequate education. A decided raise in these salaries is both needed and desirable.

(2) The Merits and Demerits of An Athletic Park

Baseball, softball, football, tennis, swimming, and general playground use would seem to be the major purposes of an athletic park, and the need for more adequate provision for these must form the basis of any arguments in favor of such a project.

Public demand for baseball and even football as spectators sports is very questionable. For several years the National Forge has had a good team, yet public interest has been anything but great. On no few occasions sports writers of the Times-Mirror have felt called upon to flay the public for their lack of interest and support. The Red Jackets were really tops for a community of this size; yet public interest was insufficient to financially support the team. Over the past years a large number of good tennis courts in town have degenerated because of the lack of sustained demand for their use. There is no reason to expect any large scale revival of this sport in Warren in the future. Softball demands no elaborate grounds. Numerous diamonds about town have served quite adequately in the past, and can continue to do so in the future.

For baseball, there is Wilder Field, the State Hospital Diamond, and Russell Field. For football, Russell Field. The expenditure of a relatively small sum could make Russell Field very adequate for baseball, football, and softball. There is plenty of property lying close by that can be picked up cheap, and an adequate clubhouse erected thereon at reasonable cost. If somewhat more field room is needed part of the bank could be cut down to provide this. For baseball, a concrete stand could be erected on the bank, with dugouts beneath—again at reasonable cost. The erection of an adequate fence would take care of the problem of unpaid admissions, a problem incidentally which remains the same no matter where the field is located. The enlargement of the portable stands for football would be simple, if attendance indicated the need. Parking is probably less of a problem here than at any other location that could be selected within the borough. The only trouble with Russell Field today is that no one has seen fit to spend the reasonable sums necessary even for adequate upkeep, let alone improvements! Swimming? How well utilized is the Y.M.C.A. pool? In fact, how well utilized are all the recreational facilities of this semi-charitable institution? It is my very definite impression that the years have seen a gradual dropping off in the use of these facilities. If it should be objected that the question of the cost of the individual makes it impossible for many who might like to do so to use these facilities, let us then make some simple provision to obviate this, rather than reduplicate the facilities at such great cost. But let us also remember that the most to the individual is quite small, and that many are not members not because they cannot afford it, but because they prefer to spend the small sum necessary in some other manner.

Playgrounds? There are several scattered about the community now which are either adequate or could be made so at a relatively small cost. Besides, the dispersion of playgrounds has some advantage over centralization, and the asserted administrative difficulties are over emphasized—for a reason. Dispersion means relative closeness to those who regularly use them. It also permits of change and novelty for those who tire of one particular location.

No Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy recreation was "planned" and, as in any complete Socialist system, was provided at public expense. In this country the depression spawned large numbers of "social workers" devoted to socialistic philosophy, whose major effort since the economic system got over its hangover has been a similar "planning" of recreation at community expense. We have our share of these. For several years they have been agitating for a central playground and modest athletic park, with little success. The idea of a "Living Memorial" is a golden opportunity, which they quickly seized. Their own aims and plans were quietly fitted into this; the original program was elaborated and expanded; a series of behind the scenes maneuvers, with just the right balance of publicity and mystery, laid the psychological groundwork; and finally, with the enthusiastic aid of an ingenious group of younger sports fans, the plan was presented to the public in such a manner as to give it the appearance of a spontaneous, enthusiastic, and widespread demand. During the course of the "build-up" and the careful launching of trial balloons, the money required was progressively upped, from some $125,000 to the present $400,000. A professional worker from one of the many socialist organizations engaged in this sort of work has been brought in to "advise" and "assist" in the planning. Since this type of individual works with someone else's money, there is very little limit to the grandiose nature of their planning. As a matter of fact, the redistribution of wealth being a cardinal aim of their philosophy, the greater the amount they can tax or coax out of those who by enterprise and thrift have managed to save, the better pleased they are. It is to be regretted that this Times-Mirror and many others have been misled by a clever propaganda campaign.

(3) Method Of Financing

Community taxation falls chiefly upon property owners—by one class of the whole population. These are going to have to bear the major cost of the new sewage system and the change of the traffic lights, and contribute a large share of the funds for the new hospital. To add another $400,000 for an athletic park to their obligations, particularly in view of other civic improvements that might seem more desirable to many, is in my estimation quite the opposite of fairness. Besides, properties have deteriorated badly because of the necessity of deferring upkeep during the war years. Take a slow drive around town and look at the appearance of the homes and buildings. As a whole they are exceedingly shabby, and the community will certainly be better served if the owners are permitted to retain at least some small portion of their available funds to put into this badly needed renovating and repair of their property.

Let us by all means have a Living War Memorial, but let us be sensible in the having of it.

A Suggestion

The concept of a "living" memorial has two aims: that the memorial should be useful; and that it should, in being used, more adequately keep alive the memory of those memorialized and the principles for which they gave their lives. An athletic park falls miserably to fulfill this second purpose. It is not when all as well and we are at play, either as contenders or spectators, that we dwell upon the memory of those who have passed on or the principles they upheld. The moment given to the National Anthem or other memorial symbol is in large part an automatic observance of convention. The mind's interest preoccupation with present events is not interrupted, only its form is changed from that of outward expression to an inward contemplation. It is during times of stress and anxiety, grave periods affecting us personally and intimately, involving perhaps either life or death for ourselves or those we love, that the mind is deflected from the business and pleasure of everyday life, and faced with the imminence of the ultimate mystery, wonders, ponders the meaning of life, and seeks the answer in those great values of the past and in the memory of those who have fought and died for these. Because this is so, the new hospital would seem a logical choice for a Living Memorial; but since the cost of the new building will represent only part of the total investment which includes many memorial bequests made in the past, it would not be keeping faith to make the whole of the new structure a memorial to any one group. However, the projected construction is in wings, and one of these will be an obstetrical unit. Those born today are the citizens of tomorrow; and so for every today and every tomorrow. What more fitting and living memorial than this unit of the new hospital? A truly living Memorial to those who gave their lives that those born thereafter should enter life, not as slaves or as the children of slaves, but as part of a free and independent nation. A memorial to where the mystery of death is transmuted into the reality of life. A memorial constantly renewed and reconstructed in the sober and thankful realization of every mother and every father whose child is born therein, that it was through the sacrifice of those memorialized that that life which they have created could be brought into a land in which freedom still reigned.

Yours very truly,
A WARREN TAXPAYER.

Famous Joyce Field Heads Marconi Show
Folks around the southern tier of floor shows have just about developed calloused hands from giving encores to Joyce Fields, talented character and acrobatic dancer. Joyce has become a pattern for others in the floor show circuit and she presents her act with a grace that wins her audiences. An entertainer with "what it takes" she has no need of the Emcee urging the crowd to "give the little girl a hand" as the crowds appreciate and applaud her talent. Charles Whitman, a clever fellow with a line of patter that gets across in good shape. While a little Dwight Fiske in some of his chatter it is never too broad and scores heavily. He sings a bit, too and his songs register well. Gene Sherk completes the bill and he is a real floor show feature. He is a fellow with real balance and the way he performs his hand stands keep the crowd agape. From all indications the bell has been rung again by the booker of entertainment at the Marconi Outing Club for the coming week end.

Chapter 11
Sunday 12:25 p.m. to 1:03 p.m.]
ULIA was sharply tense on the remainder of the drive to Jersey. It wasn't far but her mind traveled leagues with each turn of the wheel. The woman in the red hat and the paper she had seen Robey seemed an entirely new and a much more logical clue to his murder than anything coming from the confusion of the night before. It would explain by the guard was struck down. Some one wanted whatever it was Robey had paid the woman for. She hoped fervently it hadn't been found. If she could be alone in the salon for five minutes she would locate it.
The cab stopped and she got out and paid the driver. It took all her money. Robey had given her very little cash and she had no checking account—only charge accounts which he paid. It was another method of insuring that she did not leave him. She smiled a little bitterly at the idea.
She did not see the man who attached her entrance into the old rowstone house which had been remodeled into apartments. She had been here before with Robey and she remembered the self-perpetuating elevator and took it to the fifth floor. After what seemed a long time Jerry answered her.
"What—" he began crossly before he saw who it was. "Oh—Julia! Come in."
He ran his fingers over his unbleached hair. The flesh round his eyes was blue and his was still swollen.
"I wanted to see you, Jerry," he told him hurriedly, following him into the spacious room.
"I told Moore to bring Hank here," Jerry had been over a Duncan hyfe table to pour a glass of Scotch. He straightened up suddenly.
"You did what?"
Sitting down on one of the sofas he repeated her message.
"My God, Julia what an idea! Don't you know this house is attached? Haven't you figured out that a mess this is? Oh, darling, I'm sorry, I'm a jittering fool. Here, take this."
She took the glass in trembling fingers and swallowed two large gulps.
"I guess I'm the one that's jittery," she said and tried to smile. "I know things are bad. That's been decided to me all morning and I decided to do something about it. The police want facts and I have to learn some myself."
"Lord, I'll tell you all I know but Hank—listen, keep there are some things you're better off not knowing. And the police won't find out either."
He sat down beside her and Julia turned to face him.
"Did you kill him, Jerry?"
"Oh, God, no! Why would I kill the—? Why would I get rid of my job? He knocked me down and I would like to have given him a good punch in the nose. He wouldn't have fired me even then. I had too much on him and this is the best job I ever had. Lord knows where I'll get another soon."
"Do you know who did?"
"Why, I thought—" He broke off. "I don't know what I thought."
"You thought I did?" It was not a question. She saw how others were thinking the same thing but only headlong Jerry came out with it.
"I just thought you might have. I wouldn't have blamed you. The old reprobate!"
"Why did you think that?" she asked.
"Because you were the last one in the salon and because I had blurted out that double business. You see, baby, Robey was built up on publicity. He saw actors just as good as he was panhandling and one man couldn't do all the things we gave out about Robey—a playwright, a producer, an artist, an actor, a hero, and what have you. Every time one of us pulled a good stunt we gave Robey credit. It was enough for us, too. When Hank snatched you from under a subway train—Hev!"
The glass dropped from Julia's hand. She stared at him unbelievingly.
"I told you last night. Remember?"

PAUL E. BALLARD IS BACK AFTER THREE YEARS
Cpl. Paul E. Ballard, in the army for three years and overseas for two, has been honorably discharged and is home with his family at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ballard, Sr., Wiloughby avenue.

SHARES COMMENDATION
Robert Youngquist, seaman first class, USNR, served aboard the USS Sierra, one of the famed "floating navy yards", which has received a commendation from the commander of destroyers of the Pacific Fleet for her crew's feat of performing 21,892 man-hours of work on 65 ships in a nine-day period. At another time, during a five-week period at Port Purvis in the Solomons, the crew of the Sierra helped the ship distinguish herself by substituting divers for drydock facilities to complete repairs on worn and damaged underwater equipment. During that period she also provided tender service for a fleet of LST's destined to carry troops and supplies to Iwo Jima. Although the Sierra is designated as a destroyer tender, she repaired all units of the fleet, from landing craft to battleships, during more than a year's service in combat waters.

TAKES PART
Navy press releases indicate that John Joseph Kushner, seaman first class, son of Mrs. Anna L. Kushner, Pittsfield, was one of those taking part in the occupation of Japan in initial landings of the Tokyo task force from one last to the 28th of September, 1945, serving aboard the LST-558. In his second voyage to the land of the Mikado, he reached the northern Japanese islands, landing at Otaru, Hokkaido, on the 27th of October. Seaman Kushner joined the navy in December, 1943, and has been on the LST-558 since May, 1944. He is entitled to wear the American Theatre service ribbon, Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with four battle stars for participation in the assault and occupation of Anguar and Peleliu in the Palau islands, Leyte, Lingayen Gulf and Zamboales Province in the Philippines, Okinawa in the Ryukyus, and the Philippine Commonwealth Liberation ribbon with one star for action at Leyte.

UNEQUALLED RECORD
Glenn Fitzgerald, signalman second class, USNR, of Clarendon RD 1, was among navy men who served on the motor gunboat USS PGM-30 and have been credited in navy records with an achievement believed unequalled by any other ship assigned to the same type of duty. In ten days, while assigned to duty with minesweepers as fire support and a mine destruction vessel, the crew of the gunboat destroyed 19 mines by gunfire while operating at Tokashiki, a short distance west of Okinawa. Previously she had poured projectiles into the mouths of numerous enemy caves there with unerring accuracy, and army patrols later confirmed the devastating effect of the fire. The PGM-30, commissioned in December, 1944, was on duty in the Pacific from March to the end of the war.

W. J. CONKLIN IS RELEASED BY NAVY
William Joseph Conklin, seaman first class, of 10 Lacy street, was among Pennsylvanians given honorable discharge from the navy at the Nashville, Tenn., separation center.

U. S. Employment Service Is Given Boost By Local Burgess

A plea for the cooperation of employers, workers and civic organizations in making the local office of the United States Employment Service the best possible job center for the community was made today by Warren's Burgess Steber.

In a statement issued after a conference with Mr. Levine, manager of the local employment office, Burgess Steber said:

"Orderly and prompt absorption of all available workers is vital to the future of this community. Full employment is our goal as much as it is the nation's, and one of the most important means of realizing this goal is to bring workers and jobs together with the least possible delay. Accordingly, it is important that all available jobs should be listed with the United States Employment Service office."

Manager Levine said that often a community-wide effort is necessary to make certain that returning veterans and war workers are placed in suitable jobs without delay. The cooperation of all employers is absolutely essential of the local office is to be the real center where workers can go with the assurance that it is the one place in the community where they can receive the latest and most accurate information about jobs he added.

"Most retail stores, restaurants, laundries and other service establishments have been short of help for many months. Now is the time for these places to register their needs with the employment office."

Stamp News

GENERALISSIMO Chiang Kai-Shek has been China's leading figure for many years, but until this year his only appearance on China's postage stamps was on a four-stamp set issued in 1929 to commemorate China's unification.

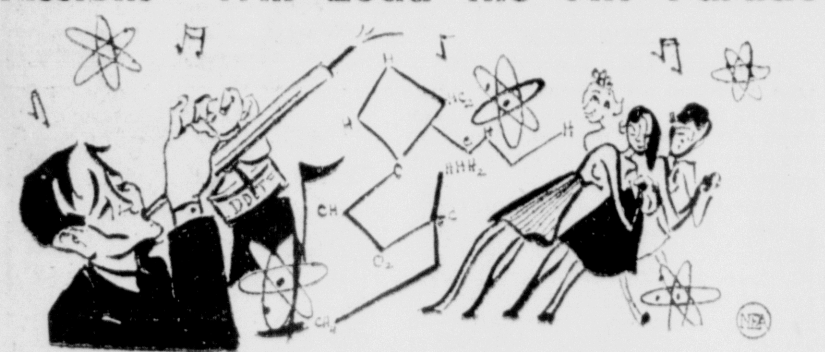

Two new sets just arrived from Chungking present new portraits of the Generalissimo in addition to the portrait that appeared on the set issued earlier this year to mark the end of extra-territoriality privilege in China.

A head and shoulders full-face portrait of Chiang appears on four stamps issued Oct. 10 to celebrate victory over Japan. China's red, white and blue flag flies at the right of Chiang's portrait and inscriptions in Chinese read "Celebrating Victory" and "Rejoicing in China's Victory." Values and colors are: $20 green; $50 brown and blue; $100 blue and $300 red and blue. The stamps were printed locally.

On the same day an engraved set commemorating the inauguration of Chiang as China's president Oct. 10, 1945, was issued. A half-length portrait of Chiang in formal uniform dominates the design of these stamps.

Chiang's flag again appears at the right in the background. Six values thus far have been received, but Scott Stamp & Coin Co. says there may be three additional values. Values and colors seen thus far are: $2 green; $4 blue; $5 brown olive; $3 olive brown; $10 gray, and $20 red violet.

Who Can Tell? Maybe "Three Little Fissions" Will Lead the Hit Parade

By BURTON BENJAMIN
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York — Our irrepressible song writers have latched on to the Atomic Age. They are accentuating the proton. They may even eliminate love and end the lush era of moon, June, tune, spittoon and goon. Soon, too.

Tin Pan Alley is clutching at the cyclotron. Four tenants of the low rent district on that famous thoroughfare held a hearing in coffee and doughnut parlors the other night. No Congressmen, scientists or generals were permitted in the joint. Just the idea man, the silent one, the grunter and a lone female, the blonde.

They decided, for song purposes, that what the atom needs is a pinch of DDT.

"No five," offered the lone man. "This is solid. We give them the fanfare and then go into our hot line. Like this: ... (To music) 'Mix the ingredients of the atomic bomb with a little DDT.' Up and down scale on the ineffectual.

"Now what's next?" The Silent One was silent. "How about 'If you eat this, you'll go to pieces,' blatted the blonde, taking a rare poetic license.

"Don't lose it. Don't lose it," fortissimod the brain. "It's good. It's very good. But does it have class? We have something but it must have class."

The grunter grunted. Our intrusion apparently annoyed them. As we started to leave they were debating titles. It was a tossup between "Singing in the Uranium" and "Three Little Fissions."

stamp and bond totals had reached the sum of $11,978.84. Mrs. William Yeager and Mrs. Edward Weigel were elected representatives of the unit to the Community PTA Council.

Plans were made for Christmas, the unit to place a tree for the children on December 15 and to have a party on the last day of school. Mrs. Donald Tait to be in charge of arranging details. To conclude, Mrs. Paul Gary, the former Miss Olson, was presented with a gift from the group for her new home. The no tardiness banner was given two grades, Miss Henderson and Mrs. Berg's. Mrs. Berg's room won the attendance award for the evening.

Talented Junior Class Cast Puts Its "Best Foot Forward" In Fine Matinee

The junior class put its "Best Foot Forward" at the opening matinee today in the high school auditorium to an enthusiastic audience of students and friends. Tickets are reported going fast for the final performance tomorrow evening, when curtain is at 8:15.

The three-act comedy, "Best Foot Forward" by John Cecil Blynn, deals amusingly with a situation that develops when one of the undergraduates, Bud Hooper, played authentically by David Brown, learns that a glamorous movie star in need of publicity, has accepted his invitation to the school's big dance. In the excitement of getting the boys' dorm fixed up for the out-of-town girls coming to the prom, four undergraduates, played by Bill Hill, Tom Hampton, Wilmer Lathaw and Carl Goosman, show themselves at ease on the stage and able to meet any emergency that might arise. Plenty do.

Neither the head-master of Winssock, Dr. Reuber, known at Warren High as Richard Kerr, nor his able assistant, Prof. Lloyd Robert Songer, are much help to the for-bidding chaperone of the girls, the be-spectacled Miss Smith. She can't be, but she is—Ruth Kaehnick!

The sweet young girls, who have their sterner side, Minerva, Erna Hansen, Ethel, Betsi Conaway, Miss Delaware Watergap, Marie Lamer, are in a match for the alluring and desperate Gale Joy of Hollywood. Beverly Washburn, the Blind Date, makes up for what she lacks in finesse by her forthright go-get-him tactics. Some of these are needed by Bud Hooper's girl, Theresa Martin, who as the lovely Helen Schlessinger arrives late only to be told she is already at the dance and "we can't have two Helen Schlessingers there."

It looks more and more as if

Miss Joy's smart publicity manager, Fred Printz as Jack Hagerty, is wasting time and money at Winssock until the reporter for the local "Bugle", Chester Billings, played by Bob Gibb, full of news angles, ideas and adept with flash bulbs gets busy. Had it not been for an Old Grad, John Erickson, to you, hurrying Dr. Reuber away from suspicious goings-on at the prom to address the alumni on how to have a better football team for Winssock, much of the excitement of hiding in clothes presses and bunks, popping in and out of the fire-escape window would have been missed.

However, the darkest hours at the prom for Bud and Helen came just before the dawn when—and we won't tell how—Winssock, now known from coast to coast as assured a high place in the future.

The large cast of 17 characters has been ably directed by Mrs. Phyllis W. Stanley, teacher of dramatics at Warren High. Each member of the cast shows a real insight into his character, from the bewildered Bud Hooper to the All-eyes chaperone. That much has been done with diction is known from the ease and distinction with which the actors speak. It is at once apparent that the choice of play, "Best Foot Forward" is one which appealed to the cast no less than the delighted audience of Wednesday afternoon.

The committees include: Stage manager: Sophia Spiridon; prompters: Betty Wade, Betty Lauffenberger; set: Alan Schuler, Elmer Mellander, Don Duckett; lighting: Bill Puelhert, Charles Cochener; costumes: Mary Hanna, Mary Ruhlman, Yvonne Miller, Doris Danielson, Naomi Snyder, Lois Callard, Bonnie Bauer; make-up: Jean MacLaren, Arlene Speckman, Dorothy Gianotti, Barbara Bova, Jane Helman; props: Gerry Peterson, Mary Alice Fischer, Leroy Marti, Gail Park, Bill Lord; publicity: John Erickson, Lucille Hogue, Charles Sires.

Girl Scout Troop investiture Is Held

A candlelight Girl Scout investiture service was held in the Russell Methodist church at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, Mrs. A. N. Correll, Girl Scout executive secretary for the county, opening the service with a talk to the girls, their parents and friends on Scouting.

The investiture opened with the playing of the colors and troop, a girls forming a horseshoe on the platform to recite the Pledge of Allegiance and sing "America." The ten girls to be invested were presented by Betty Michaelson, president of the troop. Miss Francis Rindland, assistant leader, aided Mrs. Schlick in the ceremony. The girls were Mary Abplanalp, Gladys Arthur, Marion Enos, Sarah Hunt, Grace Michaelson, Carol Moore, Evelyn Richardson, June Sadler, Janet Richardson and Dorothy VanOrman. After each new girl had made her Scout Promise, the troop sang "When's You Make a Promise" and repeated the Girl Scout laws.

Mrs. Schlick then presented the girls with proficiency badges as follows: Second class, Diana Ottomello, Diederia Peterson, and Rowland, Dorothy Russell, and Jean Shepherd; first aid, Betty Michaelson; housekeeper, Ann Rowland, Kay Kaitenbach, Ina Carol Safford; hostesses, Diederia Peterson, Ina Carol Safford; bird finder, Kay Kaitenbach; outdoor cook, Ina Carol Safford; bookfinder, Kathleen Phillips and reader, Diana Ottomello.

Each girl in the troop received her troop numeral and several received membership stars, one for each year registered in the troop. The ceremonial closed with singing of the Hymn of Scouting and a procession of the colors and troop.

Blue Stocking Club Hears of Japanese

The Blue Stocking Club was entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Mabel Siggins with Mrs. Edith Smith assisting and Mrs. Robert Winger conducting the business session and introducing the guest speaker, R. R. Young, of the high school faculty. His topic was "What the Japanese Believe About Their Origin and Destiny."

Prof. Young explained the Japanese teaching of emperor worship and the belief in the emperor's descent from the sun father and the earth mother; adding several fascinating myths of their first descendants, the beautiful Sun Goddess and her two brothers. He pointed out that the Japanese bible is based on the way of the gods and the way of the warrior, teaching that the government is also divine and of the same origin as the emperor, thus accounting for the fanaticism and homage to the emperor and the state. Mr. Young told this fascinating story of the Japanese in a modern and humorous manner, but brought out, also, the seriousness and challenge to other nations in dealing with the Japanese people.

A social hour and tea followed. Mrs. J. F. Plummer and Mrs. Ralph Sires presiding.

The next meeting will be held December 11 with Mrs. Fred Plummer, Mrs. Brackett Ayres assisting and Mrs. Alexander Field presenting the program.

Share-The-Food Day

We have finished a job, a long heart-breaking job, that of winning a war for freedom and the American way of life. And so, you say, we can lean back and take it easy. But we can't! Another job is waiting to be done—the task of giving support to the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration's plan for helping war-ravaged countries to help themselves recover from the dislocation and destruction of years of conflict. A big part of the job is right at hand, for here in Warren the "Share-the-Food Day" is a golden opportunity for all to join in an act of friendship to neighbors who are starving. A cup of four hand-dred to your next door neighbor is a friendly gesture, tiding her over a domestic emergency. A cup of four sent now to your neighbor across the sea may tide her over an emergency that means life or death—to her and her children.

"Share-the-Food Day" is for all Americans who are willing to eat, for at least one meal, the meager menus on which their contemporaries in war-scarred lands now live all year 'round—and to give the difference in cost of their adopted menu and a regular American meal to the fund which will support UNRRA's plan. Do you know that half the sugar used this year in soft drinks and other luxury products would give every resident of France about 25 pounds of sugar a year? Or that if every American gave up three ounces of meat a week, two-thirds of Europe's desperate need for meat could be met? The responsibility for UNRRA's success or failure is ours, the people's—UNRRA is dependent on what the nations willingly contribute. America—the last to suffer—can be the first to help!

Tom Brenaman Sends an Orchid For Local Party

Arrangements for the "Breakfast in Hollywood" party at the Woman's Club on Friday were given a realistic touch today when Mrs. Albert Rockwell, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, received an orchid for the party from Tom Brenaman in Hollywood.

With it, the genial host of the Hollywood Restaurant sent some other favors for the function, but the orchid adds the authentic touch needed to top off all the other plans the committee has worked out.

Bill Rice, of newspaper and stage renown, is revealed today as the Tom Brenaman of the local party, which, with announcement that special entertainment will be provided by a group of Little Theatre players from Jamestown, insures the success of the party.

In the Jamestown group will be Doris Phillips, Stanley Davis, Madelyn Osgood, Leslie Moyles and Estelle Judson.

Because of the limited number of tickets available for the affair, members and friends should make early reservations by calling the clubhouse, 410. It is stated by the committee that parties of more than four may be accommodated with reserved tables.

Bible Conference At Calvary Church

A youth Bible conference will begin tonight at 7:30 at the Calvary Baptist church, and continue every evening through Sunday evening. The young people of the church are sponsoring these meetings, and will furnish most of the social singing, and other parts of each service, except the messages, which will be given by Rev. David Anderson of Kuhl, N. D.

Rev. Anderson is a very interesting man with an interesting background. He began preaching at the age of 17 to the mountain folk of South Carolina. Later he went into evangelistic work and became one of the leading evangelists in the Baptist General Conference.

Some years ago his health became poor, and he took a pastorate. But he still travels a great deal as a conference and Sunday school institute speaker. Wherever he goes he endears himself to young people, and is known to many as "Uncle Dave".

Both young people and adults are invited to these services.

What It Means

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

WASHINGTON—The new income tax law will bring relief (in 1946) mainly to men and women who support sizeable families on small or moderate incomes. All of the estimated 12 million persons who will move out of the taxpaying class next year are married or have dependents. They will escape taxation because the new law gives exemptions from both normal tax and surtax of $500 each for the taxpayer, his spouse and his dependents. Under the old law, these exemptions were allowed only for surtax. While the exemptions hardly can be described as a "bonus for babies," they will be of considerable help to millions of people at a time of high living costs. For example, a man with wife and five dependent children and an income of $2,500 pays $53 tax this year. Next year he will pay no tax on a $2,500 income.

Real Saving
Besides the exemptions, the tax rate applied to each surtax bracket is reduced by 3 percentage points. Also the combined normal tax and surtax, as computed under the new exemptions and rates, is further reduced by 5 percent of the tax.

A tax cut of $40, or even $20, means a substantial saving to many low income taxpayers. Take a man with a wife and three dependent children and an income of $2,000. This year his tax is $111, or $9.25 a month. In 1946 his tax will be $42, or $3.50 a month.

Fatter Checks
Wage earners will get their first glimpse of reduced taxes in smaller withholdings from paychecks received on and after January 1. For a married man, with two dependent children and a weekly wage of $45, the withholding will be 50 cents, as compared with $1.40 from the same wage during 1945. If his wage is $40, there will be no withholding in 1946. In 1945 the withholding has been 80 cents a week.

Tax returns for 1945 must be filed by next March 15 as usual.

Governor Urges Support of Seal Sale in Fight on TB

"There is no armistice in the war to conquer disease," declared Governor Martin in urging support of the Christmas Seal Sale. "Day after day the battle against tuberculosis goes on."

"The 1945 Christmas Seal picture an appropriate outdoor home scene at the holiday season. These Seals are messengers of hope and health and their sale provides the munitions of victory in a great humanitarian crusade."

"I appeal to the citizens of Pennsylvania to help protect our homes and families from tuberculosis by giving their most generous support to the thirty-ninth annual Christmas Seal Sale."

There has been a 14 per cent increase in home consumption of American-made matches in the last six years.

28 Tribuna Names Top Nazis Who Planned Austrian Coup

Austria in 1934 to bring in the diplomat's own words, "slowly increasing pressure" against Germany's neighbor.

Seyss-Inquart, who succeeded Schuschnigg as chancellor in the coup just before German invasion, was described by assistant U. S. Prosecutor Sidney S. Alderman as "the original Quisling."

Reporting on results of mental examinations, British, Russian and American psychiatrists agreed that Hess' loss of memory was self-induced and that he was, in the words of British doctors, "not insane at the present time in the strict sense of the word."

The British psychiatrists' report revealed that Hess had tried to commit suicide on several occasions since his sensational and mysterious flight to Scotland in May, 1941.

As today's session opened, the prosecution presented evidence from an American diplomat that the Nazis schemed from their earliest days of power to absorb Austria.

The charge that Reichsmarschal Hermann Goering and others of the 22 top Nazi leaders on trial openly spoke of annexing Austria to the Reich was made in an affidavit by George Messersmith, former U. S. Minister to Austria and now ambassador to Mexico.

MUNICIPAL HOSPITAL AT ERIE CRITICIZED

Erie, Nov. 22—(AP)—A committee of the Erie County Medical Society urged today a sweeping improvement of conditions at the city's 15-year-old municipal hospital for contagious diseases.

The committee, headed by Dr. Norbert D. Gannon, reported the hospital is not staffed, equipped or designed to handle contagious diseases requiring skilled care and attention.

In the report submitted to the society the committee recommended that Dr. James H. Smith, city health director, be made superintendent of the hospital, with complete charge of the administration and management.

Airport Program Is Moving Forward

Harrisburg, Nov. 28—(AP)—Pennsylvania's airport construction program moved forward today with cash grants for work at two municipal fields and approval of sites for five privately-owned commercial fields, one private field and three seaplane bases.

The State Aeronautics Commission granted $4,000 to Towanda to remove a power line and a telephone line, and $25 to Waynesburg for plans and surveys for extension and improvement of the field. Both grants match community contributions.

The commission sanctioned sites of fields planned by John H. Welch at Phoenixville, Joseph Gloster at Fairhill, John F. Myers at Mansfield, Central Penn Aero Sales, Inc., one mile west of Lebanon, and Edward Voseale at Titusville; seaplane bases to be established by Walter H. Nicolai, Jr., 2,000 feet south of the Delaware River bridge at Philadelphia; Robert J. and Donald Stewart at Leesdale, and R. D. McAllister and Sons on Erie Harbor, and G. C. Black's private field at Tyrone.

New Capital Requirement Of Two Billion Seen for Bell Co.

The Bell Telephone System needs to earn at least from 6 1/2 to 7 per cent on its total capital investment in order to attract from investors the large amounts of new capital required, according to Leroy A. Wilson, Vice President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, in an article to appear in the forthcoming issue of the Bell Telephone Magazine.

Looking ahead for ten years, Mr. Wilson foresees a possible new capital requirement for more than $2 billion—nearly as much as the Bell System has had to obtain in the last twenty-five years.

There are many thousands of jobs ahead in the manufacture and installation of plant, to provide new and more better services for the public, Mr. Wilson points out. Included in the System's definite plans are such items as taking care of the 2,000,000 presently unfilled orders for telephone service, restoring plant margins to pre-war standards, adding another million telephones in rural areas to the million already in service, expanding the program of fast and accurate dial service, adding hundreds of thousands of miles of new long distance circuits, creating a nation-wide network of coaxial cables which will transmit television programs as well as telephone messages, eliminating old telephone instruments and introducing new types, greatly enlarging the scope of radio telephone service and providing for the normal future growth of the business.

The money invested in the Bell System, Mr. Wilson reports, has increased from about $1 1/3 billions in 1920 to a total of more than $4 billions at the end of 1944. About two-thirds of these $4 billions have been invested by stockholders, who now number more than 650,000. The remaining one-third is borrowed money. It is upon this entire capital structure, composed of both stock and bonds, that the need for earnings of at least 6 1/2 to 7 per cent is based.

Reviewing the history of Bell System service to this country, Mr. Wilson lists many specific improvements which have been brought about during the last twenty-five years. The number of telephones has nearly tripled in that period, while population has gained only about 30 per cent. The average daily number of conversations handled by the System went up from 33 million to more than 50 million, and conversations per person increased from about 160 to 280 per year.

Inter-city telephone messages shot up from 360 million to more than 1,500 million, and over the routes of the A. T. and T. Long Lines Department the number of conversations increased sevenfold, from 25 million a year to about 185 million.

Under the new setup, "insured financed motor vehicle" regulations passed March 9, 1938, will be resided and the new policy made effective in cooperation with the commonwealth's program to halt "sharp practices" of finance companies, especially those dealing in cars.

The new regulation will make it necessary to list both the finance company and the buyer of a car on an insurance policy so the finance company is protected for the unpaid balance and the purchaser for the amount he already paid.

They were worked out by the insurance commission and the joint state government commission's committee investigating finance companies.

Another regulation designed to curb the alleged irregular activities of finance companies will become effective Dec. 1. It will have the Bureau of Motor Vehicles where a debt is involved in an auto transaction, issue a supplemental form of application with a car

CEREAL STUFFING NEW FOWL TIP

HOT news for the holidays is a savory stuffing of nutritious cereal. Brown 1/2 cup chopped onion in 2 tablespoon drippings; add 1 cup chopped apple; cook slowly five minutes. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, and 1/2 cup chopped cooked prunes or apricots; mix well. Remove from heat; add 1 egg beaten with 1/2 cup milk. Crush 4 cups wheat flakes and add mix. Makes 2 1/2 cups stuffing. (Allow 1 1/2 cups per pound dressed weight of bird.)

Clean bird thoroughly; stuff opening at neck. Fold skin over back and fasten with toothpick. Lift wings to the back over neck skin. Turn bird on its back, hold legs straight up. Using large needle threaded with cord, enter body cavity just behind one leg and bring needle out at same position on other side. Bring needle down through wing, under back, and up through other wing; cut cord and tie ends snugly. Pack cavity loosely with stuffing.

Place small skewers or toothpicks at even intervals to close openings; lace with cord. Place skewer through tail and cross ends of cord under skewer. Now, using needle draw one cord through end of leg, other cord through other leg; tie ends snugly. Bake in moderate oven.

Simple, homemade equipment can be used to make the contour layouts, and farmers who desire detailed information can get necessary assistance without cost to them from the county agent.
